Sunshine Grooms Distinguished Visitors

Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent brought the first lady of Canada to Victoria today, to be greeted by brilliant sunshine, which, he said, "is no doubt permanent."

Bennett Asserts Dissolution Right

Premier Declares Duty Elected Legislature
Exists, Can Be Constitutionally Dissolved

Premier W. A. C. Bennett today declined to comment on the possibility of an early general election, but contended he has every right to ask for dissolution of the legislature and a new election if he desires.

The premier stressed that at no time has he said there is a possibility of a general election in the near future.

At the same time, though, he answered his critics who say he can't ask for dissolution because he has no legislature to dissolve.

"There is no doubt at all about whether or not there is a legislature. The voters voted in a new legislature June 12."

"Forty-eight members were duly elected and the election writs are in."

"Certainly, we have a regular constituted legislature."

"Therefore, the legislature could be dissolved. I'm not saying it's going to be, but I say it could be," said Premier Bennett.

The fact that most M.L.A.'s haven't yet been sworn into office doesn't affect the picture, he added.

Although Premier Bennett emphasizes he has never made any statement that a general election is near, speculation is running wild that he is planning an early election.

A Vancouver newspaper Thursday planned the time down to "mid-November."

LIBERALS COMMENT
Former Education Minister William T. Straith said today the Liberal group in the British Columbia Legislature doesn't want an early election.

Mr. Straith, who may be the Liberal Party's house leader, said his views are supported by Mrs. Nancy Hodges and Capt. D. J. Proudfoot, the other two Victoria members.

In a prepared statement, Mr. Straith said: "I believe that the people of British Columbia do not wish an election at this time, and there seems to be no reason to believe that another election would result in anything but further confusion, or perhaps greater confusion, than at present exists."

"There has been political confusion ever since January, when the Coalition was dissolved, and our Liberal group in the house is convinced that stable government is greatly needed in order that economic developments now proceeding in this province might continue."

Mr. Straith said he was sure that former Premier Byron Johnson had this in mind when he recommended to Lieutenant-Governor Clarence Wallace that Social Credit leader W. A. C. Bennett be called upon to form a government.

"We of the Liberal group believe that the present government should proceed to carry out the ordinary functions of government."

"Our group has not wished to disturb the present government in bringing about settled conditions in our province's economic life. For this reason we have no desire at a session of the Legislature to vote lack of confidence in them unless, of course, they would propose very radical changes in our economic system."

"We believe that an election at this time would be ill-advised and could only extend for many months the condition of uncertainty and confusion which has continued all too long," Mr. Straith concluded.

Mackenzie Rebels Over Tennis Expense Money

TORONTO, Sept. 5 (CP).—Brendan Mackenzie, 29-year-old Montrealer, tossed a hot potato into the hands of the Canadian Lawn Tennis Association today by refusing to play in the Toronto Cricket Club invitation tournament because of the allotment of expense money during the Canadian championship matches here last week.

Mackenzie said he and two other members, Henri Rochon of Montreal and Lorne Main of Vancouver, were given only $75 expense money for the week-long stay while the committee gave Dick Savitt of Orange, N.J., singles winner, $625, Art Larsen of San Leandro, Calif., $565 and Denmark's Kurt Neilson $225.

8 Bunker Hill Attacks Beaten Back by Allies

SEOUL, Korea, Sept. 5 (AP).—United Nations infantry and artillery today beat back eight savage Chinese Communist attacks on bloody Bunker Hill. At the same time Allied fighter-bombers plastered a North Korean mining centre.

United States eighth army staff officers estimated 400 Reds were killed or wounded in the fierce two-hour fight which erupted before dawn on the western front. The Reds stormed through murderous defensive fire to within hand-grenade range before their columns were slashed.

12 DIE IN TRAIN BLAST

WELKOM, South Africa, Sept. 5 (Reuters).—A train loaded with dynamite blew up on the main line near here today. At least 12 men are feared dead.

15,000 B.C. Fishermen May Strike

VANCOUVER, B.C., Sept. 5 (BUP).—A new, major strike loomed stronger on British Columbia's industrial front with 15,000 members of the United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union scheduled to take a strike vote today in their price dispute with company operators.

The union set the vote after the operators proposed an almost 50 per cent cut in payments for fall chums caught in Johnson Straits, reducing the price to 5½ cents per pound. The operators said drastically reduced world markets forced the action.

The fishermen, including Fraser Valley union members, will tie up their gillnetters and seiners Sunday if they favor a walkout. All commercial fishing along the coast would end.

The union secretary, Homer Stevens, charged the operators with "lock-out" tactics. He added that U.S. buyers were taking advantage of market conditions to buy Canadian fish at lower prices while British Columbia fishermen were unable to make a living at present prices.

PRIME MINISTER'S SPEECH

Following is the complete text of the speech prepared for delivery by Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent to a meeting sponsored by the Men's and Women's Canadian Clubs in the Royal Theatre this afternoon.

I would like first of all, to offer my congratulations to the members of the Victoria Women's Canadian Club who are present today. This year the Association of Canadian Clubs is celebrating its Diamond Jubilee. Any organization that has worked as yours has, "to foster throughout Canada an interest in public affairs and to cultivate therein an attachment to Canadian institutions" as the purposes of your association proclaim, deserves the warmest congratulations from all Canadians. The Canadian Clubs have played a small part in stimulating the development of that sense of Canadianism of which we are all so proudly conscious today.

I have had the pleasure on many occasions of speaking to

Handler Strike Threatens Huge Wheat Crop

MacNamara
In Winnipeg

WINNIPEG, Sept. 5 (CP).—The federal government was trying to reopen negotiations and bring about a settlement of the labor-management dispute at the Lakehead terminal elevators, Arthur MacNamara, deputy minister of labor, said today.

The labor department's top negotiator was here for talks with terminal operators in connection with the threatened tie-up.

Mr. MacNamara said the department of labor now was seeking "some common ground between the two sides" that could serve as a basis for re-opening negotiations.

Thursday night, the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks at the lakehead named Sept. 15 as the date a walkout would take place to enforce their wage and other demands.

Charles Hardwick, district chairman of the union, had said "we are hopeful that a settlement can be reached before the date set for the strike."

OPERATORS ACCEPTED

The union seeks a 40-hour week, a union shop and a wage increase. A conciliation board report recommended a 44-hour week in place of the present 48, part of the wage increase demanded by the union. The turning down the request for a union shop was accepted by the operators but rejected by the union.

Mr. MacNamara said "We're going to do everything we can" to avoid a tie-up at the terminals.

In Winnipeg, he was meeting with terminal representatives preliminary to going to the Lakehead Monday for talks with union officials there.

He said he was hopeful that the meetings at Winnipeg and the Lakehead would result in the two sides being brought together again and a settlement reached.

ALWAYS HOPEFUL

The department of labor was "always optimistic" about management-labor disputes and hoped that strike action could be avoided, he said. The Lakehead situation was no exception.

Meanwhile, members of the Lakehead Terminal Elevators Association met in special session at Winnipeg today to consider the union move in naming September 15 as strike date.

The Terminal Elevators Association represents the operators of the 15 companies with terminals at Fort William and Port Arthur.

A walkout at the terminals would be a blow to the prairie grain haul this season.

On Post Office Steps

The Prime Minister's personality projected past the microphones as he officially opened Victoria's new federal building this morning. Here, he speaks informally to a crowd of over 2,000, as postmaster J. B. Sinclair (extreme right), listens with Hon. Robert Mayhew, minister of fisheries, who introduced Mr. St. Laurent. ## WORST WEEK IN U.S. HISTORY

7 New Polio Cases, One Death in B.C.

Although the number of cases and severity is generally believed to be waning, poliomyelitis was still in the news today with the report of seven new polio cases since Thursday recorded in the lower mainland and one new death. B.C.'s polio total for the year to date now stands at 248 cases with 21 deaths—an all-time high.

Altogether 25 schools are closed throughout the province. Trustees of the Kamloops school district said 15 schools will remain closed there until the middle of this month, at least. Two schools at Hope and Ruby Creek are closed and others are holding off fall classes at Windermere and in the Kimberley districts until the outbreak subsides.

However, in Canada, B.C. was not alone in its school-opening problem. In New Brunswick the opening of public schools has been deferred for a second time, with classes now scheduled to start Sept. 15. In addition educational leaders were thinking up measures which would bar children from such places as theatres and exhibitions.

In the United States polio last week set a new high mark for any week in the country's history. There were 367 more cases in the week ended Aug. 30 than during the corresponding week of 1949, the year of the country's worst polio epidemic. The U.S. public health service reported 3,559 polio cases last week.

Saddest story of the week comes from San Antonio, Tex., where, with six children in the polio isolation ward of a San Antonio hospital, farmer Paul Pehl said today he will not return to the farm where they apparently contracted the disease.

LEAVES SIXTH CHILD

Thursday Pehl walked wearily away from the ward where he had just left his sixth child, six-year-old Dorothy. Dayton, 14, was admitted Aug. 26. Last Tuesday four more of the Pehl children—Daniel, 15; Paul, Jr., 11; George, 10, and Elaine Frances, nine—were admitted to the polio ward.

The Prime Minister concluded his address with remarks by hoping that "this new building, which I now declare officially open, will serve this population for a long, long time, and that we will be able to provide added facilities when demanded by a growing population."

Following a brief ceremony in which he unlocked the post office door with a golden key, Mr. St. Laurent unveiled a plaque provided by the Historical Sites and Monuments Board of Canada. The plaque, on the northeast corner of the building, marks the site of the first federal building in Victoria, built in 1874.

The new building, a $2,000,000 structure, was announced by Hon. Robert Mayhew in 1945. Architects were James and

Smiling Prime Minister Opens Federal Building

By MONTE ROBERTS

Canada's Prime Minister showed a fine disregard for time schedules, protocol, and formal introductions as he came to Victoria today—his avowed intention, "to meet as many people as possible."

Louis St. Laurent stood on the steps of the new federal building, slight, grey, with twinkling eye and ready smile, and his personality flowed out past the cluster of microphones, into the crowd of more than 2,000 there to greet him.

He expressed polite gratitude to Hon. Robert Mayhew, minister of fisheries, for a "gracious introduction," then added with what can only be described as a cheery grin, "but I could hope that, like Mr. Mayhew, some day I will need no introduction."

"I do not need to have Victoria people introduced to me, I know you. And I hope that it might be possible for you to feel the same way about me."

"At the City Hall a little while ago, I was happy to greet the citizens of Victoria through their elected representatives," he said. "Now I am happier still that the occasion of opening this new building gives me the chance to greet so many of you in person."

Obviously pleased at the warmth of the welcome, and surprised at the size of the crowd, the Prime Minister spoke in conversational, friendly tones, as he forecast that the Federal Building, large though it is, will be outgrown by Victoria.

"I would call this a semi-permanent structure," he smiled. "It will not be sufficient for all time in a community growing as rapidly as this is."

James, and contractors, Northern Construction Co.

It is a five-story building, 132 feet by 247 feet. The lower walls and corners are of multi-colored Quebec marble.

Earlier this morning, the Prime Minister paid a courtesy call at City Hall, where Mayor Claude Harrison met him on the steps, and escorted him to the mayor's office, where he was introduced to city council, and signed the visitor's book.

He chatted briefly and informally with the mayor, then, in the bright sunshine outside the main doors, three youngsters caught his eye.

The Prime Minister smiled, doffed his hat, and bent low to shake hands with each of them.

"Now, it may be a little while before you will be mayor and aldermen of this city," he said, "but your time will come, never fear."

The Prime Minister's tour of the federal building was delayed on several occasions as he stopped to chat with employees, retired civil servants, and, in fact, anyone he chanced to see.

It was clear to all observers that he made friends by the hundreds in Victoria today.

Del Campo Leads Chile Election Vote

SANTIAGO, Chile, Sept. 5 (AP).—Former Dictator Carlos Ibanez Del Campo came out far ahead today in Chile's presidential election. But with the vote count nearly complete, the 75-year-old strong man fell just short of the 50-per-cent-plus-one vote required to seat him.

The legislative branch chooses between the two highest candidates when none captures a majority.

sources of fur remained aware of the prospects offered by trade with the Far East. For example, Alexander Mackenzie, who almost 160 years ago was the first white man to cross the continent north of Mexico, formulated the plan of associating in one vast enterprise the fur trade of Canada and the fishing industry of Britain with the markets of China. While Mackenzie's dream of extensive Canadian trade with the Orient had to wait another 100 years to be fulfilled it presaged a development which is of great importance to Canadians today.

That is enough of our excursion into history. It shows that trade has influenced our relationship with the Far East far back in Canada's history. Now I would like to speak a few minutes on the other principle that I mentioned which is basic to our foreign policy, that of peace. It may seem paradoxical that I will be speaking about Korea where war is currently being waged but all but a few deluded Canadians realize that our participation in the Korean conflict is in the interests of permanent peace.

Canadian forces are in Korea to resist aggression in accordance with the principles of the Charter of the United Nations. Our response to the Security Council resolution of June 27, 1950, was to supply the United Nations force with a brigade group, three destroyers, and the services of an R.C.A.F. transport squadron. While we acknowledge with gratitude the major role that the United States is playing in Korea we can at the same time take pride in both the size and the quality of our own contribution. Proportionately, it equals that of any member force of the United Nations now engaged in Korea other than the United States, and it is the third largest in actual size.

Our soldiers, sailors and airmen have remained true to the fine traditions established by their forefathers before them in the defense of freedom. And while it sometimes is dangerous to discuss personalities, may I be permitted here in what he would call his own home town to pay special tribute to the first commander of our Korean brigade.

Talk about daylight savin'! Why, t'day we even had our P.M. in th' mornin'.

It'd be pretty slow fishin' if fish were like fishermen an' took a vote before they strike.

Can't git blood out of a stone, but some o' them rollin' stones should roll up their sleeves an' try anyway.

ON THE TIMES

By ART STOTT

For some silly reason I keep humming "Who takes care of the caretaker's daughter when the caretaker's busy taking care?" every time I think of the vacation plans of my friends in the B.C. parks branch. All year they labor to make some hunk of British Columbia more attractive to the recreation-minded.

Then comes a time when they get a thin slice of leisure with pay. What do they do with it? Some actually go back to the parks they worked on, take their families and enjoy the amenities they've created. That must be swell for the families. What it's like for the guy who's been on the ground for months you can only guess. Me, now, I know some people who visit newspapers on their holidays, and I always wonder why.

When you talk about recreation to some of the parks boys they'll ask if you've ever considered the idea that recreation can be highly beneficial even if it amounts to little more than a complete change from the routine activities of the day.

"Take me," one of them might say, "All year I'm moving around the parks. The glory of the forests are before me. I lift up mine eyes to the hills and we've got 'em in the parks. Big ones and little ones, tree-covered and snow-peaked. I wander by a stream or beside a lake figuring out campsites. I see what the boys have done in making outdoor cooking spots. Nature is around me and it's magnificent. Except for office work with plans and figuring, I get it 11½ months a year. That's a lot of Nature. Now when I get my vacation, I should go back to Nature?"

A Change

"You know, a guy in my position, might find a certain amount of relaxation in a crowded beer parlor. It might not be good. It might be the complete opposite of what we preach when we're pointing out the values of outdoor recreation and what we're trying to do to foster it. But it's a change."

So you ask the guy if that's how he plans to spend his holidays, and he says "Nope."

"We've just moved into a place," he explains. "We want to fix it up a little. I imagine my wife and I will just sit in the living room for a few days and argue about what kind of drapes we're going to get. The argument won't do much good. She's made up her mind already. But I guess she wants me to have my say before she goes ahead and buys what she's already decided on. You got to be democratic in the home. These things should be talked over first. And you get a certain amount of forensic practice out of it, even if you don't alter any convictions."

Then, too, the house needs painting. It has to be done a certain way. I want to be around when the guy's doing it, so he'll make it look as if it hasn't been painted for a long time and doesn't need painting—you know, sort of homey and kept up but not too obviously."

You suggest to the guy that maybe he could do the painting himself and save a little money.

He explains that he's a parks man, not a painter. Painters, he says, don't cut into his work. Why should he cut into theirs? And anyhow haven't you noticed how good it makes you feel to sit around and have somebody else working for you.

Just as He Planned It

Then you see the guy a few weeks later and ask him just what he did on his vacation. Painted the house, he tells you, and ran up to Miracle Beach for a day or two with the family. Saved a little money that way, he adds, explaining it wasn't convenient to get away for a long trip. The wife was busy sewing up some material she'd bought for drapes.

You trade a few bromides with him, agreeing holidays pass too quickly and cheering him with the dolorous statement there are only about 50 more weeks to the next.

Then you think of him going back to the job. Pretty soon he'll be away on field trips, back to Nature, taking in the park areas, the mountains, the trout streams, the lakes, the forests, the alpine meadows and the game country—the whole big outdoors. Must get monotonous.

Moe Young To Coach Smokies

TRAIL, B.C., Sept. 5 (CP).—One of the youngest coaches ever signed by a senior hockey club in Canada was appointed Thursday to take over the reins of the B.C. champion Trail Smoke Eaters.

Gordon Maurice (Moe) Young, 24, who starred last season with Tacoma Rockets of the Western Hockey League, has been named to succeed Gerry Thompson, who is guided the Smokies to the B.C. 2-1 Browns' win in five innings.

title and the Allan Cup quarter-finals last season.

Protest Denied

CHICAGO, Sept. 5 (AP).—Will Harridge, president of the American Baseball League, Thursday rejected a protest by the Cleveland Indians of their "battle of the tarpaulin" in the finale of a Labor Day twin bill at St. Louis.

In the contest, rain twice halted play, wiped out three sixth-inning Cleveland runs, and resulted in a 2-1 Browns' win in five innings.

Korean Truce Would Achieve U.N. Objective

Brigadier John Rockingham or "Rocky," as he has become affectionately known across Canada, for his splendid services to his country.

FULL SUPPORT

As long as the policy of the United Nations in Korea continues to be based on a determination to hold back the aggressors from the north and at the same time to prevent the military action from bursting out into a full-fledged war, Canada will give that policy its full support, limited only by commitments elsewhere and the need for providing adequate defenses at home.

We recognize that the United Nations action took on a different aspect with the intervention of China. To gain unification of the entire peninsula for the Koreans would now require such a large deployment of forces and energy that our defenses against communist aggression elsewhere in the world would be seriously weakened. More important yet, the Chinese intervention has brought the risk of the Korean action developing into a full-scale war. If that were to happen—and we pray that it won't—our purpose for intervention in Korea in the first place—to punish aggression and by so doing to prevent a global war—would be defeated. For these reasons we favor a negotiated truce along the present battle-lines provided that it can be a "peace with honor."

MAXIMUM SECURITY

If a peace in Korea can be achieved that will give the South Koreans maximum security from future aggression, even though the unity of Korea may not be arranged, then the United Nations intervention will have accomplished its main aim—it will have turned back the aggressors.

The accomplishment of that aim will have been made at a great sacrifice, not only by the participants in the United Nations forces but above all by the people of South Korea who have suffered indescribable losses in terms of human life and property. History, I know, will do full justice to the heroism of the South Koreans and the United Nations forces who through their sacrifices have given a stern and bloody warning to potential aggressors of the future, a warning that unprovoked attacks will meet the resistance of not only the intended victim but of other freedom-loving nations.

REBUILDING FUNDS

The United Nations has recognized that Korea will take many years to recover from its ugly war scars and has taken action to help its recovery. By a vote of the General Assembly in December, 1950, it created the United Nations Korean Reconstruction Agency charged with the physical reconstruction of Korea. Canada endorsed this action and through its government has contributed $7,250,000 to the agency. In addition, numerous church and private Canadian organizations are making clothing and other donations for Korean relief through the agency. While hostilities continue in Korea, the work of the agency is of necessity limited, but arrangements have been made for it to take over complete control of reconstruction activities within 180 days after armistice terms have been agreed upon.

JAPANESE TREATY

Now may I say a word about Japan.

One of the most important actions of Parliament during the session now adjourned, was the ratification of the Japanese Peace Treaty which was signed at San Francisco almost a year ago. This action was in accord with Canada's interest in establishing peace and in extending world markets.

While this treaty is not a perfect one and did not fully satisfy the wishes of all the signatories, it is, nevertheless, an important one to Canadians for two main reasons.

First of all, by restoring to Japan its sovereignty and the right to prepare for its defense the treaty has given that nation an opportunity to be numbered among the free nations of the world and to make her contribution to the peace and security of the Pacific.

SOVIET OBSTRUCTION

The Soviet veto is likely to prevent Japan from becoming a member of the United Nations for many years to come. The treaty partially compensates for this probable obstruction. Under Article 5 Japan undertakes to settle its international disputes by peaceful means and "to give the United Nations every assistance in any action it takes in accordance with its charter and to refrain from giving assistance to any state against which the United Nations may take preventive or enforcement action."

Admittedly, the treaty is a risk, but it is a risk based on strong indications from the Japanese people that they desire peace and have foregone their aggressive past. Since their liberation from their war lords they have shown a healthy interest in the institutions of democracy and have adopted a representative and responsible form of government which appears to be functioning well.

SOVEREIGNTY

The second reason for Canada's interest in the Japanese Treaty stems from the restoration of Japan's sovereignty; Japan will once more be able to guide her own commercial destiny.

Foreign trade is even more important to the economy of Japan than it is to the economy of Canada, and all Canadians realize the great importance of our export markets to our prosperity. Japan is even more dependent on external trade than we are, for unlike us she must import a high percentage of her foodstuffs, as well as most of the essential raw materials to maintain her industries. Our foreign trade is vital but we could maintain life, granted at a low standard, without it. The Japanese cannot. Deprived of trade many of the islands' 83,000,000 population would be condemned to death by starvation.

GOOD CUSTOMER

Japan has in the past been a good customer of Canada and most of her purchases have either been British Columbia products or were shipped from British Columbia ports. Last year that nation was our fourth best customer and purchased almost $73,000,000 worth of Canadian goods. Provided that Japan can maintain a supply of dollars to make future purchases there is no reason why that trade should not continue to increase. For Japan needs the products of our mines, our forests and our grain fields to keep her industries rolling and her people fed.

Part of Japan's ability to maintain her purchases from us will depend on our willingness to buy from her now that her source of dollars gained from American occupation forces will be reduced.

In connection with our import trade with Japan, there have been suggestions in Canada recently that Japan is threatening to flood our markets with cheap goods. While Japan in the past has been accused of unfair trade practices such as dumping, there is good reason for believing that this will not be the case in the future.

The preamble of the Peace Treaty which was ratified overwhelmingly by the Japanese Diet, states that it is Japan's intention "in public and private trade and commerce to conform to internationally accepted fair practices." If Japan adheres to that undertaking, I am sure that Canada will not wish to place obstacles in the way of Japanese trade.

FISHERIES PROBLEM

A particular matter which we are interested in, in relation to Japan, and which those who live in British Columbia are vitally concerned about is the fisheries problem.

Canada, the United States and Japan have negotiated a Convention for the High Seas Fisheries on the North Pacific Ocean. In that convention we have, we hope, worked out a scheme whereby certain types of fish—salmon, halibut, herring—which mean so much to the livelihood of many people who live in British Columbia will not be taken by the Japanese in the Eastern Pacific near Canadian shores. Our Marine and Fisheries Committee in the House of Commons has unanimously recommended that the House approve the convention and we propose to submit this legislation to Parliament at its next session.

MAYHEW PRAISED

Your Minister and Member of Parliament from Victoria, my good friend, Mr. Mayhew, played a notable part in these negotiations as did Mr. Applewhite,

M.P. for Skeena. Their advice and help in what is a difficult problem have been invaluable.

We Canadians maintain that we want to see a better standard of living for the masses of Asia and yet the protectionists among us, and they still exist, cry that we will be ruined by the competition of "cheap foreign goods" on our domestic markets, although, of course, to them, cheap foreign raw materials are quite another matter. I tell you that if we really want to see the Japanese people and the people of India, Ceylon and Pakistan and the other countries of Southeast Asia, improve their standard of living then we must be prepared to buy our fair share of "cheap foreign goods," goods that are not dumped on our markets at prices lower than those in their country of origin, but goods produced by workers with lower living standards than Canadian workers. By accepting a share of these cheaper goods we are helping to raise the living standard of the workers who made them and by raising their living standards we are also ultimately helping ourselves for we are gaining potential customers who will be able to buy more of what we have to sell.

CORDIAL RELATIONS

Apart from the trade aspect of our relations with Japan, it is also in our best interests that democracy be strengthened and sustained in that nation.

Only if this comes about will the Japanese be able, as we want them to, to develop the kind of cordial relations with the really democratic peoples of the world which are so greatly in our own long-term interest.

I have left to the last what by no means the least important of Canada's contribution to peace and to international trade in the Far East. Indeed, it may be that the Colombo Plan to which I refer, will turn out to be one of the greatest factors in keeping the people of South and Southeast Asia in the free world.

One of the keenest supporters of the Colombo Plan is again Mr. Mayhew. He is a very versatile man. He not only attended the original meeting at Colombo in January, 1950, as a member of the Canadian delegation, but he has also been present at two of the three meetings of the Commonwealth Consultative Committee which was established at Colombo. His advice and his experience in business problems generally and in all matters pertaining to fisheries, have been considerable factors in the successful operation of the plan. His faith in the plan and his enthusiasm for it have done much to engender support for it by the Canadian people.

"PRIMING PUMP"

The nations of India, Pakistan, Ceylon, Burma and Indonesia have only recently won their full nationhood. In addition to their efforts in getting democracy to function in an area where self-government is still a novelty, they are confronted with the problem of improving the standard of millions of their citizens now living on a bare subsistence level.

I like to think of the Colombo Plan as "priming the pump," to use an expression of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt when he referred to another emergency. It is hoped that the plan will not only help to raise the living standards of the people benefiting from it but that it will also build up enough confidence in their countries to prime such a flow of foreign and domestic investments that prosperity will come to the entire southern part of Asia.

"MALIGNANCY"

Communism is a malignancy that thrives on diseased tissues and the Colombo Plan by working to eliminate the diseased tissues of poverty and starvation is endeavoring to keep a quarter of the world's population in the free world.

The Colombo Plan which was conceived at a meeting of foreign ministers of the Commonwealth, calls for $5,000,000,000 to be spent in capital development in south-east Asia in a period of six years and for the training of technicians to serve in underdeveloped areas.

It is not a plan which depends solely for its support on the contributions of the wealthier members for $2,000,000,000 of the $5,000,000,000 are to be raised internally.

Through the Consultative Committee on Economic Development of South and Southeast Asia, the Asian members are expected to assist each other with their various projects of development. They are thus given the chance to practice international co-operation, which is a new experience to most of them because of their recently-acquired sovereignty.

$25 MILLION

In the last fiscal year Canada contributed $25,000,000 for the capital development phase of the Colombo Plan and parliament has voted a similar amount to be used during the current fiscal year. Expenditures under the plan, I should add, are made only after consultation between the contributing and the receiving country.

One of the principles of the plan is that purchases for any project agreed upon should be made from the contributing nation. This principle of course has benefited Canadian industry which has been called upon to fill the orders resulting from its operation.

The first $25,000,000 of Canada's contribution was spent on such projects as the Mayuraski irrigation and hydro-electrical development in India, the transportation system of Bombay, and the equipment for a cement plant for the Thal River Development in Pakistan. Canada in co-operation with New Zealand and Australia contributed to the establishment of an experimental livestock farm in Pakistan. We also supplied that country with $2,800,000 of West Coast timber for use as railway ties and finally we made a contribution to Pakistan for an aerial photographic and geological survey to assess her natural resources.

CAPITAL EQUIPMENT

A most important feature of the plan is its recognition of the futility of providing capital equipment to the underdeveloped countries without also providing the trained technicians to supervise it. Under the plan a two-way training system has been set up. Canada has to date sent a refrigeration expert and a fishing expert to Ceylon and an entomologist to Pakistan and India to give advice on the biological control of predatory insects.

Under the technical co-operation part of the plan Canada has offered 60 scholarships and fellowships to Asian students. Last year 50 students accepted our offer and came to our universities and schools to study a wide diversity of subjects. In addition to the students several technical missions have been sent to Canada to study such questions as highway and bridge construction, public health, hydro-electric development and public administration. It has been my great pleasure to meet the members of some of these missions, who have most favorably impressed me both by the sincerity of their concern for improving the welfare of their compatriots and by their willingness to co-operate with all members of the plan in achieving that aim.

UNDERSTANDING

The Colombo Plan, aside from any economic improvement that may result, has established an understanding and co-operative spirit which we hope will have a lasting effect on the relations between the participating nations. I believe that the Pakistan Minister of Economic Affairs at the Karachi meeting of the consultative committee expressed clearly these non-economic benefits of the plan when he said:

"It is becoming increasingly clear that the members of this plan work as members of a family, unified with the idea of helping each other, and in the spirit of give-and-take there is no feeling of superiority attached to the giving or inferiority tainting the act of receiving." Peace and trade, these are the foundations of our far eastern policy as they are of our entire foreign policy.

"FLOOD OF VIOLENCE"

In Korea by counter force we are trying to hold back the flood of violence which threatens to engulf all of Asia. In Japan we are working for the restoration of normal diplomatic and trade relationships. And in Southeast Asia through the instrument of the Colombo Plan not only are we trying to provide wider commercial relations, but we are also fighting another Asiatic war against Communism in the interests of peace, this time with economic rather than military weapons. We Canadians know that in the struggle against Communism there are two useful weapons, the economic and the military. While we much prefer to use the economic weapons as we are in the Colombo Plan we know that we may have no choice but to use the military weapons as we have been forced to do in Korea. And I feel sure that in the use of both these weapons we have not only the understanding and good-will of all the people of British Columbia but also their active and effective support.

A Great Canadian

IN THE PERSON OF MR. LOUIS ST. LAURENT, Victoria welcomes today a major figure in Canadian history. In due time history will pronounce its verdict on the life and work of the present prime minister. We may be sure that it will find both unique in the records of this land.

It is commonly said that Mr. St. Laurent's career is a magnificent accident and in a sense this is true. When the famous French-Canadian leader, Ernest Lapointe, died at the height of his powers, Mr. Mackenzie King looked about desperately for a successor. At the suggestion of Mr. C. G. Power he chose Mr. St. Laurent, barely known to King. Mr. St. Laurent came to Ottawa to do a brief job, determined to return to private life as soon as victory was won. For such a man there could be no such return. His future was written in his talents. When Mr. King's health broke Mr. St. Laurent took his place by almost unanimous agreement in the Liberal party and, less than a year later, with overwhelming approval of the Canadian people in the election of 1949.

But there is always a great, invisible gulf between the position of a Canadian who has become only the leader of a government and the man who has become truly the leader of the nation. Perhaps only four Canadians had ever crossed that gulf before Mr. St. Laurent's time—Macdonald, Laurier, Borden and King. And they could not cross it without long years of political apprenticeship. Mr. St. Laurent is unique in our history because he was accepted as the nation's leader, beyond the disputes of partisan politics, almost overnight.

This was only possible, one suspects, because his birth and experience were both unique. Alone among our prime ministers, he shared the blood and, more important, the instincts of both our great Canadian races and, better than any predecessor, could interpret the one to the other. It may be said of him, indeed (however one may estimate his work) that he is the most Canadian of all our leaders and his instinctive reaction to every problem is the natural reaction of the Canadian creature.

The fact which finally establishes the uniqueness of Mr. St. Laurent and will secure his place in history is not his ability in the law, in business and in government but his own sense of history. He stands on the record as the French Canadian, raised in the heart of isolationist Quebec who, more than any Canadian before him, ended our national policy of isolation forever.

At the greatest turning point of modern Canadian affairs (of which the inner record has not yet been printed) is was Mr. St. Laurent's support of overseas conscription which brought the nation through a crisis which otherwise would have destroyed not merely the King government but any hope of national unity and strength during and after the war. And it was Mr. St. Laurent who, first among world statesmen, proposed the North Atlantic Treaty and took Canada into it united, with the support of both races. From Confederation onward there is no precise parallel to that record.

Without knowing all the facts, many of them yet to be published, the Canadian people have recognized in Mr. St. Laurent, even if they do not support his government, a great and good man whom they would not willingly lose from their public life. It is satisfactory to conclude, therefore, that his present visit to British Columbia settles the doubts formerly surrounding his immediate future. Evidently he has put aside his personal wish to retire and seek those remaining years of ease which he has so richly earned. It seems quite clear that he is determined to fight the next election and, if he wins it, to govern for some years to come.

So far in advance, it is useless to speculate on an election which probably will not occur until the autumn of 1953, when events may wear an entirely new complexion. But assuredly it can be said, without possible disagreement on any side of partisan politics, that Mr. St. Laurent towers above every other current Canadian statesman, that he possesses at least the public confidence accorded to Mr. King and an affection among the Canadian people unknown since the time of Laurier.

In such a period of trouble as this the prime minister could ill be spared. British Columbia welcomes him, in disregard of all partisan dispute, as the nation's accepted leader, both at home and abroad, hopes that he will often return and trusts that many years of useful service still lie ahead of him.

Britain Eyes Our Seaway

BRITISH, EUROPEAN AND AMERICAN firms are planning to bid on various works involved in the half-billion-dollar St. Lawrence seaway project. It is to be hoped all of them will be given an even chance against Canadian construction companies. The seaway will cost a great deal under the best of conditions. That cost should be held to the lowest possible minimum by full competition between the contractors.

It is no secret that the Canadian government would like to see some of this work go to British contractors, who would thus earn Canadian dollars, desperately needed in Britain. Those dollars would all return to Canada in the purchase of Canadian goods. But as in the case of other Canadian business, Britain must meet the competitive costs of other countries. Canada cannot afford to pay for British machinery used on the St. Lawrence more than the price offered by Canadian, American or European firms.

The great British engineering industry, which is one of the main props of the British exporting economy, should be in a sound competitive position when bids are called on the seaway. In this field the British have few if any superiors.

In Canada we cannot say that we are trying to assist Britain—and thus to bolster up our own sagging British market—if we do not give British industry the same opportunities as we give our own. And assuredly if we refuse to do so, if we attempt to apply the principle of protection to our own industries, regardless of price, the seaway will cost the taxpayers millions more than it should cost.

Safer and Less Ugly Underground

MAJOR-GEN. FRANK WORTHINGTON, Canada's chief defense official, has spoken strongly against overhead wires in city light and power distribution systems. He is not, he says, considering the matter from a beautification point of view. His concern is directly with the hazards overhead wiring poses in the event of enemy attack or sabotage.

The objection to placing wires underground, of course, is purely economic. The transformation is costly—too costly, most municipalities believe, to be undertaken at the present time. Until recently, moreover, the type of conduit required has been in short supply or has been on a priority list.

By the same token, much of the civil lan defense program proposed in this country is costly. A great deal of it can be of practical use only if hostilities occur.

On the other hand, underground wiring would be an unchallenged advantage as far as civic appearances are concerned. It is chiefly, if not entirely, for appearances that such a system is advocated in the environs of the Uplands.

Gen. Worthington adds a substantial argument to the case advanced by proponents of underground wiring. With or without hostilities it promises general benefits. As one of the civilian defense measures that fall in this category, the plan should win widespread approval.

They'd Probably Have Cheered

THE DELICACY OF CAPT. JOHN Anderson's action in veering the liner United States off course to avoid overtaking Cunard's Queen Elizabeth in sight of passengers and crew will be appreciated. It was a courtesy the skipper of the record-holder doubtless extended in all sincerity to another great ship.

Yet it is questionable if the United States' captain should have been so swayed. Had passengers on the Elizabeth sought nothing but speed on their way across the Atlantic, they might have found it in the air. Since they sought comfort and gracious living afloat, they might have chosen either the Elizabeth or the United States.

It is doubtful if the passengers or crew of the British ship would have experienced any serious humiliation had the United States steamed by them. The British are celebrated as good losers. Had the two vessels passed within sight of one another, we have a feeling the people aboard the Elizabeth would have raised a lusty cheer.

Why shouldn't they? They were guaranteed extra time for a fine cruise, with shipboard entertainment and excellent food included.

How they responded to the publicity given to Capt. Anderson's gesture once the ship docked, of course, is another question. How can modesty stay modest in such a glare?

Chips

BY DAVID BROCK

WHILE I was away, the Quebec election stole noisily past and I was unable to quote you a speech made by some candidate in the farther-flung villages near Lake St. John, at the head of the Saguenay. (I trust nobody has quoted him to you already, I am treasuring him up.) He said that if the voters failed to vote the right way, "wolves and will-of-the-wisps would invade their cemeteries, dragons would come out of the abyss to strangle their heirs, and ghosts would haunt their attics, cellars, and dark rooms."

Call that nothing? He was speaking impromptu, too. If that fellow ever prepares a speech in advance, it's going to be a hulu. I never heard about his success in the voting. If he was beaten, I hope he got a job writing either patent medicine advertisements or grand opera.

WRONG NUMBER

DURING a rather frantic period of my life this summer, my telephone was seldom idle. It rang itself crazy, and me too. It got overheated, and me too. Well, when I was already about an hour late for an urgent appointment and outside my locked front door, I heard the blasted phone ringing again. Fearing it might concern the urgent meeting, I unlocked the house and dashed in. Whereupon the following arabesque dialogue took place. (Only I must change the name, and entirely alter the last lines, which were robust for a family journal. Otherwise, it is word for word.)

VOICE: Is dot Mr. Leon Mencken?
Me: No, sorry, this is his cousin, H. L. Mencken.

VOICE: Could I speak with Leon?
Me: You can speak to him. But not with him. He has passed out.

VOICE: Leon has passed away?
Me: Not in that sense. He isn't dead, he has just passed out.

VOICE: Passed out where?
Me: How should I know? Out the window, maybe.

VOICE: Vot vas it Leon passed out de window?
Me: Oh, the complete works. The complete works of Christina Rossetti...

"Passing away, saith the world, passing away." But I see my time is up. Leon will thank you in person later on. In the meantime, good-bye.

And I faded plaintively off into the distance and rang off. It was mean of me, and very silly, for the wrong number hadn't been the fault of Leon's pal at all... probably. Yet I was both sick and busy at the time, so you must excuse me.

PLAYING jokes on wrong numbers is kids' stuff at best. But we enjoyed it sometimes, when we were kids. Our number was very like that of a certain bishop (I'll not say where or who or of which denomination he was), and when we grew weary of calls for the Bishop, we howled around... in a gentle but horselike manner. I remember one of my brothers saying the Bishop's speech was getting too thick for phone calls, and we were putting him to bed.

I KNEW a man in New York who spent most of his life on the telephone. He'd often be talking to London, Sydney, Amsterdam, and Johannesburg at the same time, and he had several phones in each room, plus one built into the dining room table. He seemed to do quite well by phoning. Seventeen years ago he had 50 million dollars in cash in the banks, plus investments on the same scale, and I dare say he has phoned himself many a million since then. Well, he got terribly weary of having one of his phones mixed up with that of a nearby garage. So when a very rude and angry Colonel Smith-Jones rang up and asked to have his town car sent round at once, this phone-fancier replied: "Well, Colonel, there may not be much sense in that."

THE Colonel blew a couple of warning blasts through his trunk, like an elephant about to charge, and asked why not. The proprietor of the imaginary garage said: "Well, Colonel, we had a little fire here last night. What? Well, don't get mad, Colonel, till you step round and see your town car for yourself. Simmer down. What? No, just the top burnt off your car. It might still run." By that time the Colonel was off the line, and running himself.

TASTE BUDS

A NEIGHBOR and I have smoked the same brand of plug tobacco in our pipes for years. We cut it up ourselves. The other day he asked me if I had noticed how vile it was getting. Also, the plugs were now full of holes and air-pockets. Did I think he was losing his sense of taste? I comforted him as best I could by saying that any man who could taste holes and air-pockets had nothing to worry about.

STAGE FRIGHT

LAST month I read several dispatches from England about a nudist camp that had been thrown into a tizzy by a man who kept peeking in. The camp bought a fierce bull-terrier to nab the rascal. You know, if there's one thing a nudist hates, it's feeling naked. Actors and actresses, too, often hysterical exhibitionists, also go through a phase of getting jittery when people look at them. They must feel that the audience is made up of Peeping Toms.

VERSATILITY

I HAVE before me an advertisement for a pen. Not only is its ink guaranteed permanent, but this ink will readily wash out of the kiddies' clothing. All things to all men. Just so long as you don't write on rag paper which is made out of old clothing.

Modest and Voluntary

Toronto Globe and Mail

Canada's defense program is based on the hopeful assumption that no military emergency (beyond the ones we now have) will arise before April 1, 1954; and that whatever emergency arises after that date can be dealt with, so far as this country is concerned, by armed forces totalling 120,000. This is a modest objective. Because it is so modest, and because of circumstances peculiar to Canada, we are relying upon voluntary recruitment to attain it.

The Bear's Trap

As Our Readers See It

NOT UNITED?

MR. R. D. W. HARVEY evidently does not fear world government under the aegis of the "United Nations Organization," but a great many other people do, besides the Hon. Eric Martin; and there is certainly nothing fascist or reactionary in the belief that we are being "sold down the river" by our present slavish adherence to this child and tool of international finance, Mr. Martin. I gather, visualizes and advocates Christian government, which is an impossibility under the non-Christian U.N.O., which is not and never has been united in anything but name.

G. W. ABRAHAM,
1125 Faithful Street.

S.P.C.A.

There is, I understand, to be a series of articles on the care of pets contributed by the S.P.C.A. inspector, which is perturbing to those whose views differ widely on the functions of the society, from what seems to be going on.

The average family cat is far from being neglected and there are pet shops and veterinary surgeons who are competent to advise. Care of pets and kindness to animals should be taught in schools as is the case in many places in the States and England, and to my way of thinking the aim of the S.P.C.A. should be what its name implies, "prevention of cruelty."

Infinitely more important than obedience classes and veterinary advice is an alert look out for abuse and cruelty—the constantly chained dog—the half-starved and shelterless horse—the filthy and crowded chicken houses—slaughter houses—loading yards—horses on the streets and outlying districts—circuses, which to our shame we welcome to our city with their loads of animal misery—cats and dogs hurled out of cars—the list is long and none of these cases should be side-tracked for any reason whatever.

Inspector implies inspection, not waiting for complaints to be sent in. What is needed is a constantly watchful eye and prompt action. The boarding of animals might better be left to those whose livelihood it is, as the primary aim of the shelter is for the homeless, abused and neglected.

The keeping clean of the kennels and faithful and vigilant inspection with the regular checking up of premises where cruelty or neglect are suspected is a full-time job without any additions or distractions.

MRS. LILIAN F. HEYWOOD,
2938 Tudor Road.

WORTHY OBJECTIVE

I wish to extend to the staff and management of "The Times" a very warm and sincere "thank you" for the help and support which your paper accorded the writer in the preparation and publicity incident to the staging of our Saanich Kaa-ka-thut.

Your readers are all aware of the service rendered by the newspapers in our community, but it is only through a personal contact such as this that one can really appreciate the value of this support and the desire of the publishers to be of assistance in the furthering of projects such as ours.

It might be of interest to your readers to report that the show was financially self-supporting, which is quite encouraging for a first attempt. We were able to meet prize commitments amounting to some $850 over and above all other expenses. While we did not quite succeed in accumulating any surplus for the future, we are convinced by the interest shown by the public and Indian competitors alike, that the effort was well worthwhile. In the light of these factors immediate action is being taken to broaden the scope of the show and prepare now for the next Saanich Kaa-ka-thut.

Permit me in conclusion to thank all those who contributed to the success of our show; the public who turned out in such welcome numbers, the Indians without whom we would have had no show, the many business houses who gave us assistance, our two local radio stations, other members of the press and once again my personal thanks together with those of our membership for the very generous support given us by the Times.

NORMAN T. WRIGHT,
President, Sidney and North Saanich Chamber of Commerce.

Explanation Needed

Ottawa Citizen

General Eisenhower said in New York that the U.S. would not rest until the Communist-enslaved people of Western Europe and Asia were freed. Surely, the United States and the rest of the free world are entitled to know precisely what he has in mind.

If he contemplates merely a propaganda campaign against the Kremlin, of the kind now being carried on by the radio services of the U.S., Britain and Canada, his proposal represents no great change in foreign policy.

If he intends to introduce something more active, America's allies are entitled to know. Active efforts to liberate countries controlled by Moscow lead to war, and western nations, which would have to do much of the fighting, should have some voice in whether a liberation program would be a desirable foreign policy at this time.

General Eisenhower should specify what he means by a vigorous new foreign policy. As matters stand, he has either said too much or too little.

SEPARATE SCHOOLS ISSUE HEARD

Montreal Lawyer Tells Bar Association Provinces Should Set Up Separate Funds

VANCOUVER, Sept. 5 (CP)—An issue which has lain dormant in British Columbia since the June 12 provincial election—public aid for separate schools—was raised again here Thursday before the Canadian Bar Association.

Ulric G. Laurencelle, Montreal lawyer, told the association's civil liberties committee that Canadian provinces should provide an equitable share of public funds for separate schools operated by Roman Catholics and other religious denominations.

He quoted the charter of the United Nations to support his stand. He said Canada had not opposed any of the articles in the U.N. charter and had pledged herself to assure effective safeguards for human rights. One of these rights was freedom of parents to select the school their children will attend.

This is the same argument which has been used by the Roman Catholic church in B.C. in efforts to obtain provincial financial aid for their separate schools.

Since she joined Confederation, B.C. has maintained that parents are free to send their children to any school but only public schools will receive state aid.

The issue was a minor one in the B.C. election. Eight Roman Catholic candidates campaigning for "minority rights" under the banner of the Christian Democratic Party were defeated.

SCHOOL RE-OPEN
Two Roman Catholic schools in nearby Millardville which closed at Easter 1951, in protest against the provincial government's refusal to pay for the students' bus transportation, re-opened this week.

In other matters before the association, members of the civil justice section voted two to one against Justice Minister Garson's stand that members of the judiciary should continue to be appointed by the cabinet.

Gen. J. A. Clark of Vancouver, association president, said in his opening address that appointment of judges should be made by the justice minister alone. The University of British Columbia later conferred honorary doctorates of law on eight distinguished jurists from four countries.

They were: Prime Minister St. Laurent; Georges Charest, Ba-tonnier of the Order of Advocates of Paris; Howard Barkdull of Cleveland, president of the American Bar Association; Gen. Clark; Rt. Hon. Sir John Morris, British Lord Justice of Appeal; Chief Justice Gordon Sloan of the British Columbia Appeal Court; W. B. Farris, Vancouver, and R. H. Tupper, Vancouver, who helped found the law faculty at U.B.C.

FRANCE WARS ON DRUG PEDDLERS

Orders All-Out Police Battle Against Those Pouring Heroin Into Canada, United States

PARIS, Sept. 5 (UP)—France ordered an all-out police war today on illegal drug traffickers pouring heroin into the United States and Canada at a rate of up to $145,000,000 a year.

Health Minister Paul Ribeyre ordered the crackdown after three years of booming drug manufacturing and trading which made France Europe's No. 1 producer of illegal narcotics.

"Out of an estimated 1,000 pounds of heroin manufactured clandestinely in France every year," a ministry spokesman said today, "More than 900 pounds is exported—mainly to the U.S. and Canada. It is our international duty to do something about it."

Prices quoted abroad for pure heroin range up to $10,000 an ounce. But pure heroin seldom reaches average addicts. Prices quoted by U.S. agents show that main dealers purchase 42 per cent pure heroin at $450 an ounce, cut it 10 times and sell it for $1,850 an ounce, while the final price to the user may be increased almost to any limit depending on circumstances.

Ribeyre set the wheels in motion for the crackdown by winning cabinet approval for series of curbing measures drawn up in response to a United Nations memorandum on the drug problem.

The spokesman explained that France replaced Italy as Europe's No. 1 narcotics producer in 1949 after strong Italian measures curtailed the traffic there.

"Before 1949, only two factories were believed manufacturing heroin in France," the spokesman said. "During the past year, health ministry agents alone have uncovered five, each producing around 20 pounds of heroin each week."

The comparative cheapness of narcotics in France attracts many American addicts to take up permanent residence here, police said.

Certain cafes on the right bank of the Seine in Paris only three blocks from police headquarters sell marijuana "reefers" at prices only slightly higher than ordinary cigarettes.

The government crackdown was in response to a United Nations appeal to all countries to co-operate in halting traffic.

Ribeyre's measures included increased penalties for traffickers, forced cures for addicts, stricter supervision of doctor's prescriptions and reinforcement of police divisions dealing with the problem.

FATHER ASKS SON'S ARREST AS ADDICT

NEW YORK, Sept. 5 (UP)—A heartbroken father asked Bronx police to arrest his son because he could no longer bear to watch him steal from the family to buy narcotics, authorities said today.

Isadore Bellis, a former liquor dealer, said in his complaint that his son, Murray Bellis, 26, had stolen $435 and various items of clothing over a 10-year period.

Detectives arrested Bellis at a Bronx apartment house Thursday night and held him on a grand larceny charge. Police said Bellis admitted he was a narcotics addict.

The elder Bellis said his son became an addict at the age of 16 after some of the "older boys" in their neighborhood dared him to try narcotics for thrills.

Detectives said Bellis inherited $10,000 from his grandfather's estate about three years ago but threw away his legacy on narcotics in less than six months.

According to the police report, Bellis purchased about one-fourth of an ounce of heroin daily at a cost of about $50.

Returns From Cruise

Royal Canadian Navy's Pacific Command training force returned to H.M.C.S. Naden at 10 this morning, after a 30-day training cruise in Pacific waters.

The three ships—H.M.C.S. Sioux, Beacon Hill and Antigonish—visited San Diego before completing the cruise in the vicinity of Bedwell Harbor.

Legion of Frontiersmen Revived To Aid Police in Civil Defense

Inactive since the end of Second World War, a branch of the Legion of Frontiersmen has been reborn here.

An organization meeting was held in Civil Defense headquarters on Cormorant Street Thursday evening at which Lieut.-Col. Frank A. Curtis, commandant of the B.C. Frontiersmen, spoke.

An organization that is in operation throughout the commonwealth, the legion is being reformed here principally to augment the police force in the event of civil defense emergency or other matters in which the police require help.

Col. Curtis explained that all Frontiersmen were volunteers. He said there was no age limit. Chief figure in the local reorganization is Albert H. Davies, who was with the group during the last war. Those wishing to join the organization can either contact Mr. Davies at G 7314 or Leonard Hatcher, civil defense target area director.

Those joining are required to pay a $5 initiation fee. Members must be uniformed and overtures will be made to try and secure surplus police uniforms from the B.C. Government.

Color of the uniform—riding breeches and tunic—is turquoise blue. Frontiersmen wear a Stetson hat and high boots.

Members will be given a first-aid course by the St. John Ambulance Association and Col. Curtis thought that Victoria's Chief of Police John Blackstock would detail men to give the members instruction in police work.

The legion is now operating in B.C., the Vancouver detachment comprising 60 members. Each province has units and a provincial headquarters and national headquarters was in Ottawa, he said.

Uncle Alex Preps His Nephews

The scheduled and rescheduled senior B lacrosse series for the B.C. semi-final championship is back on this week-end, Foul Bay of Victoria meeting Richmond, mainland winners. Here Foul Bay manager Alex Macdonald, left, talks it over with two of his star performers who also happen to be his nephews, Aln Thompson, centre, will be in goal for the Bays and Jack Thompson, right, will be back at a defensive berth for the first time since breaking his wrist six weeks ago. First game of the series is at Memorial Arena Saturday night at 8.30, second Sunday.

Yankees Rout Shantz; Dodgers' Lead Pared

8 Victoria Daily Times FRIDAY, SEPT. 5, 1953

KELLER SIGNS FOR YANKS

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 5 (BUP)—Charley Keller—one of the most feared long ball hitters of the last decade—has been signed by the New York Yankees as a pinch-hitter for the remainder of the 1952 season. Keller will be ineligible for the World Series if the Yankees win the American League pennant because he was signed after Sept. 1.

WARNED NOT TO PITCH

Black Fourth Player To Receive Threat

BOSTON, Sept. 5 (BUP)—Ace Black has received a death threat from a crank who says Black's mastery of the New York Giants has cost him his life.

The 28-year-old Brooklyn pitcher is the fourth major league player to have his life threatened this year. The anonymous letter came in Boston Thursday, and warned him not to appear when the Dodgers play the Giants in New York this week-end.

The letter was neatly printed on white paper and mailed in New York. It says:

"I have bet my life savings on the Giants winning the pennant. I consider you have been the main reason the Giants are out of first place. If you come into the game to pitch at the Polo Grounds Saturday, Sunday or Monday, it will be the last time you will ever appear on any baseball mound.

Black, who has beaten the Giants twice this season, turned the letter over to postal authorities. He says it doesn't worry him.

Other players to be similarly threatened are Warren Spahn of the Braves, Bobby Shantz of the Philadelphia A's and Ralph Kiner of Pittsburgh.

Western Gridders Face Double Week-End Duty

The football season, in full swing in the west with a quarter of the 16-game schedule already completed, steps up its pace in the east with the opening of the big four season at Toronto and Ottawa Saturday.

Ottawa's Rough Riders, last season's Grey Cup champions, open their home schedule against Hamilton Tiger-Cats and Toronto Argonauts will engage Montreal Alouettes in their home opener.

They are two of the eight games down for decision between Saturday and Monday night with four in the east and four in the west.

The other action in the east sends Toronto Balmy Beach against Brantford Redskins for the second time in the Ontario Rugby Football Union while Windsor Royals open their schedule against Sarnia Imperials.

Gil Hits Two Homers

Allie Reynolds has achieved two of three feats a pitcher dreams about—a no-hit game and world series victory. Today the 33-year-old New York Yankee right-hander stands a good chance of realizing the third—a 20-victory season.

Reynolds, one of the game's best "money pitchers," turned in his 17th victory of the season Thursday night as the Bombers crushed Philadelphia Athletics, 12-2. This enabled the Yankees to project their 3½-game American League lead over Cleveland Indians.

The Indians, behind Mike Garcia, turned back Detroit Tigers, 2-0. In other games, Washington defeated Boston, 4-2, for the Senators' fifth successive win and St. Louis trounced Chicago, 8-0.

Brooklyn's National League advantage was sliced to seven games as the Dodgers dropped a 6-5, 11-inning decision to Boston while the runner-up New York Giants disposed of Philadelphia, 4-3, also in 11 innings. St. Louis turned back Chicago, 1-0, and Cincinnati humiliated Pittsburgh, 7-2.

GIL HITS PAIR

Reynolds and Little Bobby Shantz were hooked up in a tight duel for five innings. The Yankees scored twice in the second on Gil McDougald's homer and the A's countered with one run in the fourth.

Shantz got a taste of what was to come in the sixth when the Yankees shoved three runs home on Yogi Berra's two-run double and Gene Woodling's single. The seventh was a nightmare as the Yankees rammed home seven runs. McDougald climaxed the fireworks with a three-run homer off Wright. It marked the third time that Shantz has failed to gain his 23rd victory.

Garcia recorded his 18th victory for Cleveland in blanketing Detroit on five hits. Luke Easter's 25th home run of the season in the fourth inning off Bill Wright was all Mike needed.

Stu Miller, sensational Cardinal rookie right-hander, turned in his second shutout over Chicago in three weeks under the lights at St. Louis. The Cards nicked Warren Hacker for the game's only run in the first inning on singles by Red Schoendienst, Stan Musial and Enos Slaughter.

Indians Stop Tyees Again; Beavers to Aid Club in '53

League Lead Shaved to Five Games

Out of the frying pan into the fire—that's figuratively the situation that greets the Tyees today.

Glad to leave Spokane where the Indians completed a three-game series sweep Thursday night with an 8-7 10-inning decision and move to within five games of the league lead by doing it, the Tyees meet the ever-dangerous Salem Senators in a five-game series.

A double bill is scheduled tonight, a single game Saturday and a twin outing Sunday before the Tyees return home Monday. Spokane meets Wenatchee before moving on to Vancouver.

11TH STRAIGHT

Spokane's victory was their 11th in a row and though the Indians are hounding the Tyees in a last-ditch battle that could be decided in the final series of the year here between the two clubs, the magic number for the Tyees is still "six."

Any combination of Tyee victories and Spokane losses adding up to six will give the pennant to Garriott's gunners.

Thursday night it was Bill Prior who took the loss, replacing starter Bill Bottler in the first inning, and going the rest of the route. Frank Chase, who relieved John Marshall in the fifth, was the winner for Spokane.

EARLY LEAD WIPED OUT

Tyees took a two-run lead in the first inning but Spokane soon wiped that out when Bottler walked the first four men, and was derided. Bill Sheets welcomed Prior with a two-run single and the Indians were ahead 3-2.

Cec Garriott's double, an error by Eddie Murphy and Dwane Helbig's single enabled the Tyees to square matters in the third. Tyees then went ahead 4-3 in the top of the fifth, Lu Brannham batting in Chuck Abernathy.

Shoddy support in which foul flies were dropped by Jim Clark and Don Pries and a bad throw executed by catcher Ron Bottler, climaxed by Mel Wasley's bases-clearing triple, put the Tribe ahead 7-4 in the bottom of the fifth.

ABERNATHY HOMERS

Chuck Abernathy's third home run of the season with Helbig and Moniz riding the sacks made it 7-7, which way it remained until the 10th.

With two out, Ed Bouchee singled, Wilbur Johnson walked, Frank Chase beat out an infield roller and Ed Murphy, singled to score Bouchee with the winning run.

Ben Lorino and Leroy Han will work tonight's games at Salem.

BRAVES UP FOR SALE; HOME ATTENDANCE POOR

KENNEWICK, Wash., Sept. 5 (BUP)—Arnie Sanborn, president of the Tri-City Braves of the Western International League, says the team is up for sale ... lock, stock and barrel.

Sanborn says owners have decided to sell because of the poor attendance at home games in Kennewick. Sanborn says the owners are faced with three alternatives. They "can stay and go bankrupt, move the franchise to another area, or sell to a local business group." Sanborn says he prefers to sell the club to a Tri-City business group to keep the team in Kennewick. Sale price will include six-sevenths of the club, uniforms and equipment, all concessions and 10 player contracts.

ROYALS BOG IN SECOND HALF

Stelcos Capture Football Title

WINNIPEG, Sept. 5 (CP)—Montreal Stelcos fought their way to possession of the Canadian soccer championship Thursday night, combining a switch in tactics with superb goal-tending for a 2-0 victory over New Westminster Royals in the final game of a best-of-three series.

BRONCS GIVE BILL BRENNER NEW CONTRACT

LEWISTON, Idaho, Sept. 4 (AP)—Bill Brenner, player manager of the Lewiston Broncos in their return to the Western International Baseball League this season, Thursday, was named general manager for the 1953 campaign.

President James B. McMonigle of the Lewiston Baseball Club made the announcement. He said a "substantial" salary increase was given Brenner in recognition of his greater value to the club and for the additional duties he will perform.

Brenner has pitched 18 victories for Lewiston against 11 losses. He will assume most of the duties of business manager in addition to directing his club on the diamond.

Ferrier Fires Sizzling 63

ALBANY, N.Y., Sept. 5 (UP)—Jim Ferrier, the transplanted Australian from San Francisco, entered the second round of the $15,000 Empire State open golf tournament today with a one-stroke lead after setting a new course record in the opening 18 holes.

The red-faced Aussie grabbed the early lead with a sizzling 63 on the par-70 Normanside Country Club course Thursday to break the low mark of 65 held by Albany amateur Bill Shields.

Mike Homa of Rye, N.Y., and Fred Haas of New Orleans, La., also broke the course record to tie for second place with 64, while Shields was in fourth place with a 66.

Jago, Knight Cop Horseshoe Title

Roy Jago and Frank Knight defeated Stan Joyce and Art Hollingsworth Thursday night to win the "A" doubles championship of the Greater Victoria Horseshoe Pitchers' Association.

Five games were played in the "B" section of the singles competition. G. Perry defeated R. Rowe, W. Fletcher beat M. Metzger, C. Watson beat W. Fletcher, G. Lavinger beat M. Metzger, W. Wilkinson beat W. Fletcher.

The Vancouver Island doubles and singles championships will commence Sunday morning at 10 at the Opal Street pitch.

Cox Praises Portland Pact; Several 'Nights' Planned

The 1952 Western International Baseball League season isn't yet history, but already the Portland Beavers of the Pacific Coast League have indicated their continued support to the Tyees in 1953.

Tyee club president Arthur Cox disclosed this fact at a meeting of club directors Thursday night in announcing that the first of Portland chattels due for spring delivery has been named.

The player is 19-year-old Don Hopp, a right-handed pitcher who recently was voted the outstanding semi-pro player in the state of Oregon.

Hopp, a member of Norgan's Beavers team in the Oregon state semi-pro circuit this year, has been signed to a Beaver contract and barring unforeseen circumstances, will be in Tyee livery next year, directors were assured.

In making the disclosure following a meeting with owner George Norgan and other Portland officials earlier this week, Cox paid high tribute to the Portland Club for its support of the Tyees this year.

"Our treatment from Norgan and Portland has been the best Victoria has ever had in any working agreement, and that includes the New York Yankees," Cox said. "The Beavers have been wonderfully co-operative and have assured us of a continuation of that support for next season."

"Furthermore George (Norgan) has made a substantial personal contribution to the Victoria club," president Cox said. "He's a Tyee booster. Whenever we play down south and George is in the area, he attends and roots for our boys."

Player Sale Possible; Treece Suspended

Further to Thursday's announcement in the Times that three Victoria players, Jim Clark, Ben Lorino and Bob Moniz, would be given tryouts with the Beavers this season, it was revealed that if the players make the grade they will be purchased from Victoria.

The three Tyees in question will not report to Portland until following the W.I.L. season. Terms will be discussed if and when the players are retained by the Beavers.

Other players on option to the Tyees who have been recalled by Portland, effective Sept. 13, are Bill and Ron Bottler, Leroy Han, Jehosie Heard, Dwane Helbig and Grady Gladstone.

However, Gladstone may not get the opportunity to report as soon as the others as preliminary reports indicate that the Negro outfielder is out of action for the balance of the season with a leg injury suffered Wednesday night in Spokane.

Third baseman John Treece has been fined and suspended. It was also learned, and is no longer with the club. No details were given.

Gala Program for Season's Final Week

Club officials, with an eye to a probable pennant triumph, have set an attendance goal of 20,000 fans for the final week of the season. Tyees return home Monday for three games against Lewiston and four against Spokane, who still retain a mathematical chance of overtaking the league-leading Victoria club.

Four big nights are planned for the final week's activities. On Wednesday, Jackie Price, baseball's acrobatic prince, who has thrilled Victoria crowds in the past, will return for a one-night stand.

Thursday will be "radio appreciation night." There will be no radio broadcast of the game that evening, the festivities being put in charge of radio station CKDA which has carried broadcasts of the majority of Tyees games this year.

Friday's program has not yet been announced, but, as a grand finale to the season, Saturday, it will be "Player Appreciation Night," when individual members of the Tyees (it is hoped they will be W.I.L. champions by that time) will be duly honored.

In addition, a wrist watch donated by Henry Birks & Sons, will be given to the 100,000th customer to see the Tyees this season.

Present attendance stands at 98,082. With a gala week of baseball ahead, officials feel confident that they will have no difficulty in attaining the 20,000 figure they have set as a goal for the final home stand of the year.

Aussie Junior Upsets Seixas in U.S. Tourney

FOREST HILLS, Sept. 5 (AP)—All on account of a 17-year-old kid, the form chart for the 71st United States singles tennis championship today showed a sharp rise in the direction of an all-time Australian final for the men's title. And there was a corresponding dip in America's already low prospects of regaining the Davis Cup.

The kid is Ken Rosewall, Australia's junior champion, whose first appearance in the big Forest Hills Stadium was a somewhat breathtaking affair.

Ken not only knocked Vic Seixas, America's No. 1 player, out of the tournament, 3-6, 7-5, 5-7, 6-3, but he showed some 10,000 spectators the kind of tennis they haven't seen from a newcomer in years.

Three other Australians, including another 17-year-old, remained in the picture today as the tournament moved into the quarter-finals. But none was quite so exciting as Rosewall.

Minor Lacrosse Schedule Released

Following is the schedule for minor lacrosse playoffs for the coming week at Stevenson Park and Memorial Arena. All juvenile A and B players are requested to bring birth certificates to the arena Saturday night.

Tomorrow: 8:00 a.m.—Pee-wee, Saanich vs. Esquimalt, Stevenson Park. (First game in best-of-five series for Fred Francis Trophy.)

A HERO'S STORY, UNTIL NOW UNTOLD

He'll Be in the Nets Tonight

By DENNY BOYD

When you go to the lacrosse game here tonight, reserve a portion of your cheers for goalie Jim Hetherington, a quiet hero.

Think back to the first game of the Inter-City Lacrosse League semifinals a week ago. Shamrocks edged P.N.E. Indians, 12-10, but for a time in the last quarter it was touch and go as to whether the Rocks could stave off a relentless march by the Indians that dissipated a once-healthy 10-4 lead.

In the last quarter of that game the Indians had nine shots on Hetherington and scored goals on six of them.

Some of the fans had complimentary things to say about Jim, even though the Rocks hung on to win.

But there was an explanation for Jim's last-quarter weakness, an explanation that, by design, was not made known until early this week. Hetherington should not have been playing that game. Unknown to most, his wrist was badly swollen from a case of blood poisoning.

JIM HETHERINGTON ... he didn't tell.

In the second half of the game the pain was so intense he had to have his arm shot full of novocaine so that he could continue.

Possibly the Indians suspected some weakness as a majority of the shots that escaped him in the second half were low shots to his left side, the side of the injured arm.

When the story was finally made public, the rotund goalie said he was holding his glove and the glove was holding the stick. He had no feeling and no strength in his left arm.

Hetherington himself requested manager Ralph Baker and the club doctor to keep mum about the injury, not even to let his teammates know about it.

He hung on through the

ARNIE FERGUSON ... sore ankle and all game and when the other players were celebrating the victory, Hetherington was in a hospital bed, his arm pumped full of penicillin.

That's the great, big cigar-smoking guy who will be in goal tonight when the Rocks and Indians tangle, their series tied up at one victory each.

This is the big one of the series. If the Irish lose tonight, they face the prospect of winning at Vancouver Forum Monday to stave off elimination. A victory will put them in the driver's seat.

Archie Browning will be back at his starting berth on the first string line with Whitely Severson and Larry Booth and Arnie Ferguson, although bothered with a badly twisted ankle, will start at one of the defensive berths.

The New Westminster-Vancouver semifinal series, tied at one game each, also resumes tonight at Queen's Park Arena.

On the OUTDOOR FRONT

By ROY THORSEN

"If you or somebody else had told me this, I wouldn't have believed it... but it happened to us."

This was the introductory remark of city shoe repairman Jack Phillion when he telephoned the other day to tell about a fishing experience he had last week end at Qualicum.

Phillion's story is that he fished a big spring in an eye. He got it up as far as the boat when the silver gave a last leap and broke free. The eye was all that was left on the hook.

"A little while later Ronnie hooked into a fish, fished it on the lower jaw, and when he finally boated it there was one eye missing," Phillion said, "and I'm darned sure that it was the same one that got away from me."

True it could have been the one Jack hooked earlier... but, dear readers, please remember that when I get a fish story like this I always report it on a "quote and unquote" basis.

According to reports flooding this office during the last few days, the waters lapping Vancouver Island's east shoreline from Campbell River right down to here at the present time could be listed as a "fisherman's paradise." Springs, coho, jacks and grise are being taken in practically all well-known fishing waters along the coast.

Alberni Canal is rated as one of the top fishing waters of Vancouver Island at the present time. The offering is tyee salmon, large and small.

"Early morning and evening are the only times to go fishing up there, it's dead in between those times," said Art Watson, who returned to local haunts after a week end of successful fishing in those waters with George Rice and Al McKinnon. They got eight tyee, largest going 44½ pounds (by McKinnon), and 42 pounds (by Rice).

Watson admitted he caught the smallest—a 25-pounder... "but with a glass rod and 100 feet of line."

The tyee are taking plugs and spoons.

Blue Grouse Season Promising

Three of the "old salts" of the game trails, Roger Monteith, Johnny Wenger and Jack Gray, took a trip to Lake Cowichan country last week end and came up with the verdict "everything points to a good season for blue grouse hunting."

Season opens September 13.

"There's a splendid green crop of salal bushes—which offer the grouse's main food supply—and I saw strong coveys of fine birds, some of them up to a dozen birds," reported Monteith. Last year at this time the salal bushes were badly dried up, forcing the birds to seek food in cooler higher levels.

Monteith figures the same situation is general in the favorite grouse-hunting country on Vancouver Island. He saw plenty of birds in evidence at Campbell River during the spring breeding season... "and with such a good breeding season that should mean good pickings for all nimrods," he asserted.

Lower Campbell Lake is a hot-spot for trout anglers at this time. Island publicity commissioner George I. Warren can testify to that. He returned from there a couple of days ago with 52 trout his party had taken. "They caught 15 the morning they left," said Monteith. Most were taken on troll.

Sportsmen (and others) who want an enjoyable evening of dancing can have just that if they journey out to the Goldstream clubhouse of the Victoria Fish and Game Protective Association Saturday night. "Everybody's welcome," said president Ray Ritchie, who has been the main guiding influence behind the sportsmen's body the last few years. The club's monthly meeting, with many important matters on the agenda, will be held Monday night at the clubhouse.

Bringing the Outdoors Indoors

It didn't ring a bell at the time I read it, but a chap referred to in the August edition of the magazine "Forest and Outdoors" under the heading of "He Brings The Outdoors Indoors"—Robert Arnold—is the brother of Susan Arnold, clerk in the city police court office. Article told how Arnold, a Saskatchewan government employee, visits the northern schools of the province to instruct pupils in forest conservation, wild life and kindred subjects.

Bill Hawkins says that the Wallace "Highliner," a comparatively new plug to these parts, has been doing well this year. Lower Island lake and river trout fishing is expected to come on as soon as we have some rain, experts assert. Rangers, I hear from Gordon Sward, believe that the safe handling of firearms should be included in our grade and high school curriculums. Stan Williams says that Victoria's Nalme Plaxton was among Victorians who hit into big tyee in recent days in the Alberni Canal, reeling in a 52½-pounder.

Sportsmen's Derby

SIDNEY, Sept. 5.—North Saanich Rod and Gun Club will hold its annual salmon derby Sunday in waters between Cole Point and Saanichton Spit. Fishing will be from dawn to 5 p.m., and weighing in will be at Holder's Boat-house, Shoal Harbor Marine, Randle's Landing, James Island Wharf and Mount Baker Store.

Booster Meeting

The Victoria United Booster Club will hold a meeting in the Elks' Home, Cormorant Street, September 11, at 8. Officers for the coming season will be elected.

WOMEN'S BOWLING

Entries for the Capital City Bowldrome's Women's Afternoon Leagues will be taken at the alleys Tuesday and Thursday from 1.30 to 2. Clubs desiring other dates are asked to contact the Bowldrome.

GOOD TURNOUT

Senior A Hoop Picture Bright

The long-awaited revival of senior basketball may have started Thursday night when 13 hopeful hoopers turned out for the first practice of the season of Pat Horgan's senior A entry.

Horgan, who has not had much to enthuse over in his troubled managerial career, was in a bubbly mood this morning and reported he was greatly pleased at the "terrific" enthusiasm shown at the first workout.

"He feels he will be able to build a team that will be stronger than last year's Individuals who dropped a heart-breaking Island championship series to Alberni Athletics.

One of the most pleasant surprises for Horgan was the presence of veteran Hank Rowe at the workout. Although a trifle heavier than in his Domino days, Rowe appeared to have lost none of his court magic.

Johnny Clark, who ranks with the best bucket-men in Canada, reported that his knee is entirely recovered from an old injury that troubled him during the major part of last season.

FUTURE PRACTICES

The club has two practices slated for next week, Tuesday and Thursday at 7.30, at Fraser Street Hall. Horgan reports he will ask the team to elect a new executive.

Others who attended the first practice were Bob Boyes and Howie Tooby, who have had senior experience.

Younger players trying out were Don Hendry, Ted Saunders, Barry Jackson, Jim Jaharous, Lorne Oakley, Walt Acraman, Doug McCord, Jack Shields and Ron Bentley.

RE-ELECTED TO THIRD TERM

Hocking Skating Head

Bud Hocking was returned to his third term as president of the Victoria Figure Skating Club at the annual meeting Thursday night at Club Sirocco.

Also re-elected was treasurer C. R. Patterson, who returns for his third year.

Dorothy Bradshaw succeeds Mrs. J. A. Wallace as secretary and Dennis Humphries succeeds J. H. Kilgour as vice-president. Committee members returned to office were Mrs. Evelyn Wallis, H. C. Harrell and Art Nugent. New committee members are Dr. and Mrs. R. B. Robertson, Joe St. Pierre and Bert Saville.

It was reported that, while the 1951-52 season was highly successful, increased costs kept club profits down. In light of this it was decided to increase the cost of memberships. However, it is felt that the increase will be more than covered by increased ice time for every club member.

KEEN STRUGGLE SEEN FOR CRICKET HONORS

The Victoria and District Cricket Association is coming to a driving finish, the top five clubs in the six-team loop elbowing for rail positions.

With only three games left for each team, Cowichan has been mathematically eliminated, but only five points separate the other five teams.

Three games this week-end will have a great bearing on the final outcome. Oak Bay, co-leaders with Incoqs, meets second-place Albions at Windsor Park Saturday.

Albions trail by only one point and could complicate the standings further with a victory.

In the other two games of the Saturday triple bill, Five C's tangle with Alcos at Beacon Hill and Cowichan hosts Incoqs at Duncan.

Burgess Heads Island Boxing Body; Local Clubs Begin Training Monday

On the shoulders of Tommy Burgess will rest the hopes of Vancouver Island boxers in the 1954 British Empire Games in Vancouver.

Burgess, well known in boxing and rugby circles, is the new president of the Vancouver Island Amateur Boxing Association, being elected to that post in the recent annual meeting at Chemainus.

Others elected to the association's board were: Vice-president, Alec Crabbe of Chemainus; second vice-president, Fred Buxton, Victoria; secretary-treasurer, Bill Miller, Victoria; registrar, Bob Chambers, Victoria.

Les Gropp is publicity agent and CPO, Goodman will act as liaison man between the association and service clubs.

With the '54 Empire Games being held so close to Victoria, it is the earnest wish of the new association that Vancouver Island have strong representation and it is hoped to build a formidable team to carry the Island banner.

Burgess, a former fighter himself, has a wealth of experience in training boxers, both in the services and with city clubs.

From representation at the Chemainus meeting, it would appear that the upper Island is the new fire department club, city police and James Bay. It is believed that St. Louis College club will continue although the club has lost the services of its excellent coach, Louis Callan. Two new clubs also may be formed in the near future.

As yet, there is no central hall for city clubs to hold shows. The association reports there is a dire need for coaches, referees and judges. Persons willing to help in this capacity are asked to contact Al Duval at B3440.

The Fire Department Boxing Club will start training Monday night at 8 in Number 1 hall, Cormorant Street. Ed Duffin, Nick Lystar and Ted Beale will be on hand to instruct all youngsters wishing to join the club.

AA (Oscar class) BB (Worthwhile) C (Put in time)
A (Don't Miss) B (For Rainy Days)

(A) "SON OF PALEFACE" (Royal): For the host of admirers of Bob Hope, the man who wrote "I Never Left Home," the man who wowed them in the front lines during the Second World War, even in a startlingly different "western," and without (almost) the help of "Pop" Crosby, is still a very funny man.

Coming straight from the learned ranks of Harvard to the golden west, Hope runs afoul of the citizenry when they learn he is the son of the man who has died owing them so much money.

The shenanigans that follow when he falls in love with outlaws Jane Russell and feuds with Federal man Roy Rogers makes just about the funniest show since Hope's "Star Spangled Rhythm."

The trick photography on which many of the laughs depend is weird and wonderful. Such scenes as Hope in bed with Rogers' horse, Trigger; Hope seeing a full outdoor skating scene in the middle of a desert; Hope's old car, back-firing, its wheels falling off while a couple of buzzards wait patiently for their dinner, prove that the jolly, chin-ched, ski-nosed comedian is still about tops in the belly-laugh business.

***
WOODWARD'S RADIO SHOW: CASE (Royal): A young dark-haired pianist called Patricia Shakespeare held her audience enthralled last night with her workman-like, understanding interpretation of Debussy's Prelude to win the vote as the night's winner in the Woodward-Royal amateur contest. Miss Shakespeare will now enter the ranks of the semi-finalists who will battle it out for first prize next Thursday night, and, if she is lucky, in the finals the following Thursday.

Garth Sheering also pleased with his piano rendition of "Night and Day" and "Bumble Boogie." Sally Laundy sang "I'll Be Hard to Handle," from "Roberta"; John Gettins played "Sophisticated Lady," and young Larry Todd, last week's winner, sang "Too Young."

By now doing their commercials off stage I think that CJVT's Hugh Curtis and Stan Peters have improved the show immensely. Last night it certainly had more snap and verve than in preceding evenings. Also, week by week, I think the timbre of the contestants has been improving. Certainly it has all been worthwhile when one remembers that about 50 young Victorians and Vancouver Islanders have found a "showcase" for their artistic wares. An outlet like this can't be measured in terms of dollars and cents.

Goes to Jail Rather Than Pay $1 Fine

VAL D'OR, Que. Sept. 5 (CP)—Daniel Lesar, 25-year-old preacher convicted on a charge of obstructing traffic, was taken to jail at Amos Thursday to serve a 30-day sentence when he refused to pay a $1 fine and $9.90 costs.

The preacher who describes himself as a Baptist was found guilty by Recorder J. A. Baillargeon of impeding traffic by preaching on a downtown street corner last Saturday.

Mr. Lesar was convicted last year on a similar charge and served time in jail.

Police Chief W. H. Daoust said the preacher was warned about 8:15 p.m. last Saturday that his street-corner preaching was contrary to a municipal by-law.

The police chief said he advised Mr. Lesar to hold his religious meeting in the baseball park, on Val D'Or playground or in a municipal park.

Chief Daoust said he arrested the preacher a quarter-hour later for failing to take this advice.

Youth Training By Service Clubs Important Duty

The part service clubs can play in the training and guidance of youth was described for the Oak Bay Kiwanis Club Thursday night by Dr. F. E. Howley James, minister at Metropolitan United Church.

"The world's greatest statesmen realized the importance of training youth for the future safety and betterment of their respective countries," he said.

His own club in West Toronto undertook the building of a new Y.M.C.A. headquarters and modernization of the Y.W.C.A. building, he said.

He complimented the Oak Bay club for its work, and urged that it be continued as expanded.

"We must have organized religion if we are to accomplish the things for youth that will give them a better world to live in," he said.

Rockland Avenue Fight May Go to High Courts

B. Russell Ker is determined to wage an all-out battle to bring about a lower assessment on Rockland Avenue properties.

"I'll employ lawyers and I'll go right to the Court of Appeal if I have to," he declared angrily, after City Council Thursday afternoon gave final approval for Mrs. A. K. Love to establish a nursing home at 840 Pemberton Road.

Mr. Ker, prominent city realtor and a Rockland resident himself, had protested against allowing the nursing home in the district.

At the previous council meeting, he had submitted a petition signed by 40 Rockland residents, all opposed to the nursing home. He argued that the district was intended as an area for single family dwellings, and that if aldermen allowed nursing homes, apartments or boarding houses into the district, property values would be substantially lowered and the city could not expect to collect such high taxes as it had in the past.

City Council Thursday voted almost unanimously to allow the nursing home. Only dissenter was Ald. Waldo Skillings.

He declared the city would be "deluged by property owners from that area," if it allowed the nursing home.

"They will be down in mass at the Court of Revision," he said. "This may have very great repercussions so far as our tax revenues are concerned."

Other aldermen felt otherwise. Said Ald. Brent Murdoch: "I think a nursing home there, well kept, will be an asset. It's an excellent place for a nursing home."

Mrs. Margaret Christie, chairman of council's health and welfare committee, said: "The home will be no detriment to land owners on that street. No one will ever know it's anything but a private house."

Ald. Arthur Dowell: "It's going to be a very high calibre nursing home."

Ald. Frank Mulliner said some Rockland Avenue properties had already had their assessment values lowered, and that he understood there would be another devaluation soon, anyway, in that district.

BRITONS PUT TOGETHER PRE-FAB IN RECORD TIME

LINCOLN, Eng., Sept. 5 (Reuters)—Ten men Thursday assembled a six-room house in seven hours, 10 minutes—50 minutes less than they had been expected to take.

The test pre-fab house was then inspected by Works Minister David Eccles. It will be dismantled and sent to Canada.

The house is factory-built and is one of 28 for export to Canada. It contains three bedrooms, a living room, a kitchen, a bathroom, and an entrance hall. It has glass fibre insulation against Arctic winters, and special storm-proof sash window fittings.

Plumbing is American-type—significantly absent in most British buildings.

First houses in the export order will go to the new model town of Ajax, near Toronto, and others to Gander, Nfld.

Huge Allied Armada Prepares for Exercise

OSLO, Norway, Sept. 5 (AP)—More than 160 Allied warships, including eight big aircraft carriers, begin manoeuvres off Scandinavia next week, warning Russia that the west is ready to defend the seas even up to the Arctic Circle.

City Approves Old People's Village Plan

City Council cleared the way Thursday for the Victoria Kiwanis Club to make a quick start on the erection of an old people's village off Cedar Hill Road.

The service club has plans for erecting a number of small cottages, which it will rent to elderly couples living on old-age pensions. The organization has been anxious to make a start on the project but has been held up by certain technicalities.

Thursday City Council was informed that all that was necessary to straighten out the situation was for the proposed cottages to be put back three feet from the location marked for them on initial plans.

It was reported the club would have no objection to this so council authorized City Engineer Cyril Jones to go ahead immediately with installation of sewer pipes and water mains to service the village.

City Interested in Regaining Craigdarroch

Victoria City Council is interested in regaining title to Craigdarroch Castle so that the building can be leased as a museum and tourist attraction on a money-making basis.

The building is presently owned and occupied by the Greater Victoria School Board.

In one year the family laundry requires the lady of the house to walk three miles carrying a load of 3,000 pounds of wet wash, tests disclose.

Suggestion that the city explore the possibility of getting back the castle, which it sold to the school board for $28,000, was put forward by Ald. Percy Scurrell, who acknowledged the idea had actually come from a Chamber of Commerce meeting.

Ald. Scurrell objected, however, to any publicity being given the proposal, so, at his suggestion, council discussed the proposal "off the record."

At the conclusion of discussion, however, aldermen showed themselves entirely in accord with the plan by voting unanimously to have its own tourist trade development committee investigate what steps the city would have to take to get the castle from the school board.

Certain school board members previously have been quoted as saying the board will be willing to vacate the castle if the city can provide them with "suitable accommodation" somewhere else.

The Chamber of Commerce is known for favoring Craigdarroch Castle into a museum place for old documents, articles and mementoes of Victoria's early days. It has been stated on several occasions that there are Victoria men eager to lease the building for such a purpose.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

An employee of a local firm was somewhat startled last pay-day by a deduction which appeared for the first time. Included in the list of "bites" off the pay-check such as hospital insurance, taxes and so on, was a mysterious item: "S.C.—60 cents."

"Good night," cried the employee, "I thought Social Credit GAVE you money. Now they're soaking ME to pay for Social Credit, and I didn't even vote for them."

Fellow-workers managed to calm him down and explain that "S.C.", as used on the pay-check, denotes "social club."

Norm Pringle reports that a window of Social Credit headquarters is (or was) broken, apparently by a rock. He suggests the constituents should give the boys a chance before they start throwing things.

Any comment of mine on the following would be gilding the lily.

Dear Monte:
Proof that you have a reader is tendered herewith in the following lines inspired by your recent remarks concerning American currency:

The coinage of the U.S.A., can be, and is, still used today. Of uses otherwise, alas it brings but grief if you should pass it!

Stuck with but a Buffalo nickel, brother you'll be in a pickle. And rumor has it it's a crime, to slip the bus a Yankee dime!

(On Sunday, it is surely fated much will be collection-plated.)

Which should give you some idea of what kind of people read your stuff. I also read the labels on old tomato cans. Your pal (ever since you published my last one),

Stop worrying about the atom bomb. A prominent astronomer was asked whether it was possible for an atomic explosion to destroy the earth. "Why, sure," said the scientist. "But what if it does? It isn't as if the earth were a major planet."

TOPICS OF THE TIMES

The public is invited to attend the monthly meeting of the Cerebral Palsy Parents Club on Monday at 8 p.m., where a report on the proposed cerebral palsy clinic at the Royal Jubilee Hospital will be discussed.

The Pythian Cerebral Palsy Committee, which is establishing a clinic here, reported it has received a cheque of $100 from J. D. Ferguson, 3225 Cadboro Bay Road, towards the project.

Victoria Y's Men's Club will plan a program of activities at their first fall meeting next Thursday evening at the Y.M.C.A. Office holders from now until April 1 will be Cliff Joyce, president; Art Zala, vice-president; Victor Christison, secretary; Alan Coomber, treasurer; and Arthur Lees, John Duncan, Sam Peat, Leonard Cameron, Thomas Turner, Kenneth Priestley and Roy Brain, directors.

A conciliation officer likely will be called to attempt settlement of a dispute between the B.C. Coast Service of the C.P.R. and 11 employees, members of Machinists, Fitters, and Helpers' Union Local No. 3 (C.C.L.).

"If we make no headway in our meeting with the company Monday afternoon we will apply for a conciliation officer," J. A. Cornthwaite, union business agent, said today.

Bargaining has been carried on since June 1. The union was certified as bargaining agent for the machinist employees on the preceding May 22.

Points in dispute are wages, overtime rates, vacations, statutory holidays, recognition of a "dirty-money" clause, and new rates for charge hands and apprentices.

Times Will Carry Canada Boom Story

As United States national magazines see Canada as a sleeping industrial giant now awakened and leading the world in progress, is told in the magazine section of the Victoria Daily Times tomorrow.

"Canada Boom Unlimited," "The Boom That Made Canada," "Canada, the Businessman's Country" are headlines quoted from articles in "Time," "Saturday Review," "Fortune," "Collier's," "Reader's Digest," and "The New York Times," to mention a few of the U.S. publications which have given considerable space to Canada's 12-year industrial boom, its soundness and stability, in many cases making comparisons with their own country very favorable to Canada.

FOREST FIRE OFFICIALS FEAR PACIFIC STORM 'PETERING OUT'

A Pacific storm heading toward the British Columbia coast is pouring out rain as it proceeds and may be expended before it reaches here, the B.C. Forest Service said today.

The Forest Service was counting on the storm to halt B.C.'s increasing fire hazard, but now the situation is doubtful although there may be some rain in parts of the province this afternoon or tonight.

There are 14 fires in the Vancouver Forest District, which includes Vancouver Island, and 70 in the entire province.

A new fire near Harrison Hot Springs has engulfed 100 acres and destroyed 1,500,000 feet of felled and bucked timber. The fire is out of control.

Meanwhile, the Alert Bay blaze, which has blackened about 150 acres, is controlled. However, the Forest Service has been forced to evacuate its lookout man from the fire area. No details are available.

Mayor Grooms Prime Minister

Civic and federal governments met with broad smiles in Victoria today, as Mayor Claude Harrison (left), greeted Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent at City Hall. They chatted informally, mostly about Victoria's climate and scenery.

Education Up To Provinces Says Premier

St. Laurent Opens B.C.'s Law School

A stand that jurisdiction over education should remain with the provinces was reiterated in Vancouver Thursday night by Prime Minister St. Laurent as he spoke to men of his pre-politics profession.

Mr. St. Laurent touched briefly but forcefully on the subject of jurisdiction as he formally opened a modernistic, $320,000 law faculty building at the University of British Columbia.

Following his speech, the Prime Minister was presented with an honorary doctor of laws degree.

The building opened by Mr. St. Laurent is the youngest school of law in Canada. The U.B.C. Law Faculty started in 1945 with lectures in army barracks.

"Legal education, like other forms of education, is and should remain within provincial jurisdiction," Mr. St. Laurent said.

"But that does not mean that lawyers should have a provincial outlook. Nor does it mean that it is a good thing for lawyers, or for the administration of justice in Canada, to raise too high the boundary walls that divide the practice of the profession between the various provincial jurisdictions."

The Prime Minister said the "very existence" of the Canadian Bar Association, of which he is the honorary law president, "is ample evidence that the horizons of the best of our lawyers and teachers of law extend far beyond the boundaries of any one province."

Mr. St. Laurent's appearance at U.B.C. followed a day in which he charmed thousands of school children in New Westminster and suburban Burnaby.

Vancouver Island is the third step of his "meet-the-people" swing through British Columbia, which he says is a non-political trip.

Waldo Throws Another Curve At Ball Club

Alderman Waldo Skillings gave further indication today that he intends to have the city "get tough" with the management of the Victoria Baseball & Athletic Co., Ltd., for not paying rent it owes on Athletic Park.

The alderman last week indicated he would urge legal action to force the ball club to meet its obligation to the city of $7,200.

Today, the alderman left little doubt as to what he thought the city should do.

"We've played ball with the ball team," he said. "But they've not lived up to their promises. They wanted time to pay and we said all right. But they've fallen far behind."

"We'll not be horsed around like this next year."

The Victoria Baseball & Athletic Company operates the professional ball team, the Victoria Tynes, in the Western International League.

The club owes $3,400 rent from last year and faces an additional charge of $4,000 for using the park this season.

'Some Day You May Be Mayor ...'

The Prime Minister paused to shake hands with a "future mayor" as he left City Hall today, after a courtesy visit with Mayor Claude Harrison. Mr. St. Laurent told Kim Smallwood, 4, 950 Burnside Avenue, that he might grow up to govern the city. With Kim was his brother, Jerry, 2½ (face hidden), and George Pearce, 116 Olive Street, who watches in wide-eyed wonder. (Times Photo.)

St. Laurent Refutes Bennett Claim That High Dollar Hits Export Trade

By GORDON FORBES

Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent and Premier W. A. C. Bennett have widely different views on the Canadian dollar. This fact was seen clearly this morning during a rapid-fire interview with the Prime Minister shortly after he arrived in the city on the morning boat from Vancouver.

Asked his reaction to Premier Bennett's contention that Ottawa should bring the Canadian dollar down towards par with the United States dollar, Prime Minister St. Laurent replied:

"I think it is a very fortunate position for the government not to have to interfere with the value other countries place on its currency."

Asked to elaborate, the prime minister said: "Well, a nation is in a very much more comfortable position when other countries value its currency too highly rather than too low."

Premier Bennett recently said the high price of the Canadian dollar is hindering the sale of B.C. products, and it should be brought down towards par with the American dollar.

HURTING EXPORTS

Mr. Bennett said the dollar is over-priced on the world market, and hurting the export sale of this province's products.

"If this is not remedied," he warned, "it could have an adverse effect on the wage schedule and purchasing power of the workers in our basic industries, thereby adversely affecting our economy as a whole."

But Prime Minister St. Laurent apparently was unimpressed by the premier's arguments.

The 70-year-old, white-haired Prime Minister was quick on the trigger at the brief "before breakfast" interview with the press in the main salon of the Princess Elizabeth.

Although no press conference was planned, the distinguished statesman was affable when ap-

Higher Bid Offered For City's Elevator

Portland Firm Would Match Other Prices

By DAVE STOCK

Kerr Gifford & Co. Inc., has indicated to the city it is prepared to go higher than $150,000 recently quoted as a price for Ogden Point grain elevators.

The U.S. firm, which has offices in Portland, has written City Council asking that it be given an opportunity to match whatever offer comes to the city from other firms interested in buying the big, concrete storage bins.

It is believed the offer was considered by City Council when it met in private, as a committee of the whole, Thursday afternoon.

There is some suggestion aldermen might look favorably upon such a proposal since Kerr Gifford has been leasing the building from the city for the last three years. Many on the council were ready to give the firm an option to purchase the elevators for $150,000 when that proposal came up last month.

Mayor Claude Harrison said then the offer wasn't enough.

CANADIANS INTERESTED

Since that time, two Canadian companies have expressed interest in taking over the elevators. One of the firms, believed to be the Alberta Wheat Pool, has had engineers make a technical survey of the elevators to determine what it would be worth.

Although neither of the Canadian firms has yet made a firm offer, it is thought perhaps a price quotation might be submitted to City Hall some time next week.

During the three years Kerr Gifford has leased the elevators for storage of American corn, it has paid the city a rental fee of $1,000 a month.

Robert House Sale Veto by Mayor Ready

Edict To Be Given To Council Monday

Mayor Claude Harrison indicated today his veto of City Council's motion to sell Prince Robert House for $42,000 will be handed down Monday of next week.

The veto will hold up sale of the former servicemen's hostel and will require council to reconsider its decision.

The mayor is drafting a long statement, listing his reasons for thinking the council went wrong. Chief argument is that the price offered by the local businessmen's syndicate is far too low.

The mayor made slight reference to the matter at a special council meeting Thursday.

$60,000 ASSESSMENT

He said it was unthinkable, in his opinion, for council to sell the property for $42,000 when it was assessed at over $60,000.

The mayor is known to favor renting the building until the city is offered a far greater price for the red brick building. He believes the rental fee would cover taxes and provide the city with a good rate of interest, on whatever money was required to put the building in shape for occupancy.

$6,590 Completes Bills for Recent Repairs to Arena

City council will be asked Thursday next to authorize expenditure of $6,590 to complete payment for recent repair work done to Victoria's Memorial Arena.

Bills are in from J. H. McRae Company Ltd. for $2,140, covering expense of new wiring; from C. J. McDowell Sheet Metal Works, $2,774 for repairs to roof; from Insul-Matic and Building Products Ltd., $817 for roof repairs; and from J. T. Devlin & Co. Ltd., $859 for painting of exterior walls.

City council's finance committee is prepared to recommend at the next council meeting that some measure of relief be given amateur sport organizations using Athletic Park or Macdonald Park to stage their games.

The committee will recommend that instead of taking 15 per cent of gross receipts for a rental fee, the city should only take 10 per cent.

Recently, the Victoria United Football Association applied for some reduction in charges made for enclosed parks.

SOME HOLIDAY!

Unwilling Nurse Seeks Police Help

One of the strangest complaints ever heard by city police officers was received Thursday when a Winnipeg visitor said she had been left here with a nursing home on her hands.

Specifically she asked police to locate the operator of the home who had gone on vacation and left her in charge of the home and its two inmates, elderly women.

She told plainclothesmen that on arriving here she went to visit an ex-Winnipeg friend operating a nursing home "and I agreed to look after the home while she took a one-week holiday."

She is worried, because two weeks have elapsed since the nursing home operator went on vacation.

"I have to go home, but there are two elderly women in this home and I can't leave until the owner comes back," complained the woman.

Pioneer Cadboro Bay Resident Dies

John Vincent Cooper, a pioneer resident of the Cadboro Bay district, died at his home Wednesday night.

Born in Beckley, Sussex, England, 88 years ago, Mr. Cooper came to this country over 60 years ago. He was a cattle rancher in Alberta before crossing the Rockies in search of gold. He took part in the Klondike gold rush and prospected in the Peace River area.

Mr. Cooper settled at Cadboro Bay 50 years ago and had a poultry farm at his home, 2874 Hobbs Street, until his retirement from active work in 1947.

The Frank Hobbs school is on part of his old farm, which he gave to the school board.

He leaves no close relatives. Funeral arrangements will be announced later by Sands Mortuary Ltd.

PARK'S SWAN TRIES HARBOR

A swan was noticed this morning swimming in Victoria's Inner Harbor.

It was first spotted shortly before 9 near the Johnson Street bridge.

A spokesman for the city parks department acknowledged the bird was one of theirs, on the loose from Beacon Hill Park.

He was not excited. It happened once before.

C.P.R. Offers Freighter for West Coast Run

Will Start Next Week, Is Promise

The C.P.R. will put a freight vessel on the west coast of Vancouver Island run next week, William Manson, vice-president of the Pacific region, said today.

In a telegram today to the executive of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of the Island, Mr. Manson added that "every effort is being made to provide passenger service also for the west coast Island run."

Mr. Manson told the chamber group he would contact them again "as soon as current negotiations for passenger services are finalized."

The C.P.R. vice-president said in his telegram: "It is regretted that we are unable to get the additional two-year service out of the Maquinna and that she had to be withdrawn at such short notice. Situation of the inhabitants on the west coast of the Island is very fully appreciated and cause of very great concern to us."

HOT COMPLAINT

Mr. Manson's announcement followed dispatch Wednesday of a strongly-worded telegram to the Canadian Maritime Commission at Ottawa from directors of Island chambers of commerce meeting in Victoria.

"It is incredible that communities on west coast should be abandoned," the chamber message said, "and such action is bound to arouse intense public hostility to the C.P.R."

The chamber directors requested an immediate reply as "immediate substitute service is imperative."

Copies of the telegram were sent to Mr. Manson and also to W. A. Mather, C.P.R. president in Montreal, and to Lionel Chevrier, federal minister of transport.

ASK The TIMES

Q—A mother in Saskatoon receives the widow's allowance. Can you tell me if such an allowance is paid in B.C. and if so what are the requirements for eligibility?—Mrs. M.E.

A—B.C. doesn't pay "widows' allowances" as such, but widows are given assistance under either "Mothers' Allowance" or "Social Allowance." In both cases eligibility tests must be passed. Requirements are elastic and the main consideration is the need for assistance. Further information may be secured from welfare officials.

Q—Can you tell me which covers the greater area in Canada, our agricultural land or our forest land?—Mr. D.B.

A—Forest land is about three times the area of agricultural land.

Q—I would like to know how many Nobel prizes are awarded annually?—Mr. A.D.

A—Five. The average value of the prizes is $40,000 each.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily. All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest.

Ketchup Is Released
In Orderly Fashion

By PENNY SAVER

This is one gadget that I am wholeheartedly enthused over. I guess in the past you have either seen, or had, some type of dispenser to put in a ketchup bottle to make the sauce come out in small doses instead of one great blurb.

We have one at home with a cap and long stem that fits into the bottle and you just ease out the amount of ketchup you want. It certainly has saved a lot of embarrassing situations. You know as well as I do what can happen when you try and get ketchup out of a bottle.

Well, this new gadget is a soft plastic tomato. Just exactly like a real one with a green stem top and all.

The idea is to put the whole bottle of ketchup in the tomato and put the stem top on. The stem acts as a spout to release the ketchup in a controlled flow.

The new miracle plastic tomato is a sanitary and odorless way to keep ketchup fresh in an unbreakable container. There is no waste, no shaking and no mess.

Price for the attractive table ketchup dispenser is 98 pennies.

Found a bargain in lipstick. That doesn't happen very often, does it?

This lipstick is put out by a very well known cosmetic company and I know you'll like it.

For $1.25 you get a double-ended lipstick, two different shades. The combinations are paradise pink and desert pink; striking red and paradise pink; and victory red and sky blue pink.

A tube of this lipstick at regular prices is $1.65. With this purchase you get two for only $1.25. The lipsticks are covered with attractive gold caps.

Here's something new in the cosmetic line.

It's a shampoo which they call "egg fluff." Actually, when you look at it in the plastic bottle it looks almost good enough to eat—wouldn't advise it though.

It is a rich yellow color and is wonderful for bringing new life into your hair.

This new shampoo sells for $1.50 and $2.25.

Swimming will tone and streamline you generally—but mat exercises will do special jobs for you.

A. You have very pretty legs and a lovely figure as a whole. If you want to work toward more perfection, lose one inch from the hips, but you certainly haven't anything to worry about.

Q. "Since I started working I have very large veins in my hands—that is—on the tops of them. Is there anything I can do to get rid of them?"

A. This is an inherited characteristic usually. Some other factors which contribute to this condition are extreme thinness, having the hands in very hot water a lot, and hard physical work.

Q. "I am 5 feet, 3 inches tall. I weigh 126 pounds. My measurements are: bust, 35 inches; waist, 26 inches; and hips, 39 inches. Would swimming 100 yards a day for a period of two weeks help my figure any? What improvements may I expect?"

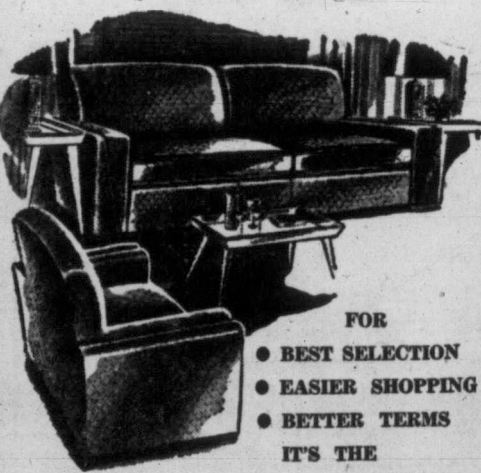

A. Yes, I know you would see

AS WE LIVE

Be Reasonably Strict
With Young Children

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, Ph.D.

A child cannot be expected to be good all the time. That is what this young mother says her parents expect, and this worries her:

(Q.) "My three children, seven to 12 years of age, are very lively and full of fun. Sometimes they get into mischief and are really quite naughty. My parents, especially my mother, tell me that I was never naughty like that and neither were my brothers and sisters. Should I be stricter with my children?"

Your parents may not remember the times you and your brothers and sisters were naughty. There is always a tendency, when looking back over the past, to remember the good and forget the bad.

Children today are naughtier and more troublesome than children of a generation ago. Discipline is less strict today than it used to be and children are given more freedom of expression.

Whether this is good or bad, only time will tell. We are going through a revolution in child-rearing and it will take time to see what the outcome is.

Play safe and take a middle-of-the-road position. Don't be as strict as your parents were with you and don't be as lenient as most young parents of today are.

Your children must, within reason, learn to conform to standards of behavior set by society, whether they like it or not. But you can't expect them to learn this overnight, any more than they learn other things overnight.

There are times when they are naughty and times when they are good. They are naughtier when they are very young than when they approach adolescence. If you notice improvement each year, be satisfied with that and don't expect perfection. I am sure your mother felt that way about you when you were little, even if she has forgotten it now.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

A well-chilled fruit salad is one of the most appealing and tasty luncheons a person could eat. Place a thick ring of cantaloupe on each garnished salad plate and fill with a mixture of cottage cheese and chopped celery. Sprinkle the cheese generously with silvered salted almonds and garnish each salad with three plump cooked prunes.

Those beautiful field-ripened tomatoes in the markets these days are perfect for salads. Fill them with this extra good mixture for a whole-meal salad. Combine chopped hard-cooked eggs with meaty chunks of ripe olives, sliced celery and mayonnaise with a dash of dill seed for extra accent.

Prime Minister's Wife and Daughter Stay in Background On Present Tour

By HUMPHREY DAVY
Only one matter has been overlooked in Prime Minister, St. Laurent's tour of British Columbia and that is providing more time and occasions for the First Lady among Canadians and her charming daughter to meet the people.

Mrs. St. Laurent and daughter, Mrs. Frank Lafferty or "Theresa," as she is called, have been ever present at the Prime Minister's side since he left Ottawa for the West Coast, but have kept well out of the public eye.

They have kept so well in the background that it is not unusual for people to ask if the Prime Minister is accompanied by his wife and daughter.

Mrs. St. Laurent is typical of the women of her generation and position in Quebec who were brought up to be graceful wives, good mothers and competent home-makers. Within the four walls of their elegant homes, they performed most of their life's work.

Theresa, the Prime Minister's attractive daughter, has all the charm of her mother. She would have no trouble being elected to parliament if she so desired because of her sincerity and her personality.

But the only time she has got into the news so far in British Columbia was when she told a veteran, hospitalized in Vancouver, that she was fond of pea soup. "La soupe or pois" as it is called in Quebec, is one of the tastiest dishes in that province.

Theresa dresses simply and is extremely fond and proud of her father. She is married to Frank Lafferty, a member of an old Quebec family. She is very fond of British Columbia, and was most keen on accompanying her father on his tour. "You have a wonderful climate here," she said on arriving at the coast. "Those mountains are beautiful!"

Friends tell you that graciousness and adaptability are prominent characteristics of the dark, former drummer Miss Grace quiet woman who is Mrs. Louis St. Laurent. And these characteristics are evident in the serenity and poise with which she meets all situations.

Friends say also that Mrs. St. Laurent has always been the ideal companion of her husband in all moments, and that is the way she is filling her First Lady of Canada role.

The Prime Minister is always conscious of his wife's presence, and in his public addresses often makes some reference to Mrs. St. Laurent and to his family.

Vows Exchanged in a Candle Light Ceremony on Thursday

Pastel hues in gowns worn by the bridesmaids were reflected in a lovely candle-light ceremony Thursday evening which united Lorraine Bernice Mitchell and Winston Rideout Garcin. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon S. Mitchell, 623 Raynor Avenue, and the groom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Garcin, 1765 Hollywood Crescent.

Rev. S. V. H. Redman officiated in Victoria West United Church. At the altar rail were standard baskets of giant chrysanthemums, interspersed with yellow, pink and white gladioli. Guest pews were marked with pink gladioli tips and white ribbon. Traditional wedding music was provided by Miss Marguerite Mawer, who sang "Through the Years," and Oliver Stout, organist.

White nylon net and Chantilly lace over satin fashioned the gown worn by the bride, who was given in marriage by her father. It was styled with fitted lace bodice, curved neckline with net yoke, and lily point sleeves. Her billowy skirt, appliqued with lover's knots, tapered into a graceful train. A bandeau of braided tulle caught her sheer finger-tip French veil and she carried a white Bible topped with an orchid and heather in shades of mauve entwined with long satin streamers.

Attendants Miss Elgin Bellingham in blue and Miss Lois Moir in pale yellow chose ballarina-length dresses styled with off-the-shoulder neckline and centre panel of tiny pleats from the waist. Sashes of pleated satin completed the outfits. They carried colonial bouquets in contrasting colors which matched floral headdresses.

Miss Mickey Mickelborough, maid of honor, wore a pink net gown which featured a floor-length skirt of tiered ruffles and an off-shoulder neckline.

Best man was Trevor Barlow and ushers, John Gulliver and Don Higgs.

Olde England Inn was setting for a reception where a three-tiered wedding cake topped with sweetheart roses and embedded in pink and white tulle dotted with roses, centred the bride's table. The cake was flanked by gleaming silver candelabra.

For a honeymoon trip up-island, Mrs. Garcin donned a violet-toned velvet suit, with accessories in lighter mauve. Her corsage was an orchid. Mr. and Mrs. Garcin will make their home at Glen Lake, B.C.

Hospital Baby Show

At a recent meeting plans for the 5th annual baby show sponsored by the Junior Auxiliary to St. Joseph's Hospital, were made. The show, to be held September 27, is open to babies born at the hospital between August 1, 1951 and July 31, 1952. Applications have been sent out to mothers of children born between those dates. Further information may be obtained from Mrs. K. Kissinger, B3947, or Miss Yvonne Taylor, G7673.

Willows — Dr. Clifford Carl, director of Provincial Museum, will present an illustrated lecture on "Nature's Reptiles" at meeting of Willows P.T.A., Tuesday at 2, in school auditorium.

At 5.30 the visitors will go to Government House where His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Clarence Wallace will entertain at a cocktail party and buffet supper. The boat will leave again for the mainland at 8 o'clock.

In charge of arrangements are Mr. J. Howard Harman, Mr. Allan Cox and Mr. A. B. Russ, president, secretary and treasurer of the Victoria Bar Association.

The cruise to Victoria is culmination of a week-long convention in Vancouver of the Canadian Association.

A Farewell Party

Members of Alpha Zeta Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, entertained recently for Miss Mary Gutenberg, who is leaving the staff of Royal Jubilee Hospital to attend University of British Columbia. The guest of honor was presented with a corsage of white and yellow carnations and a farewell gift from the chapter. The following members were present: Mrs. Ada Sharman, Mrs. Jack Speakman, Mrs. Lex Freeman, Mrs. H. Dawson, Mrs. Prentiss, Mrs. Fred Richards, Mrs. Victor Cooley, Misses Florence Smith and Doreen Waller.

To Attend Convention

Mrs. Gordon Wismer, Gillespie Place, is leaving Monday for Hamilton, Ont., where she will attend the convention marking the 60th anniversary of the Women's Canadian Club. While in the east she will visit her sister, Mrs. E. A. Ferguson, in Toronto. She expects to return to the city at the end of this month.

Miss Maud Renouf, who has just completed a world tour, is now visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Renouf, Gordon Head.

Mrs. Cyril J. Williams and her small daughter, Stephanie, Larkdown Road, have returned to their home following a two-week visit with Mrs. A. L. Brealey, at her summer home at Crescent Beach. Mr. Williams joined them for the holiday week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Ross and little son, Gordon, have motored from Weyburn, Sask., to visit Mrs. Ross' parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. Ross, Island Highway, at Langford.

Members of the Victoria Girls' Pipe Band were guests at a Wednesday evening, shower honoring former drummer Miss Grace Livingstone, who will wed Mr. Alan Knight on Saturday evening. Hostess Mrs. A. E. Paquin, 401A Bay Street, was assisted in her duties by her daughter, Miss Mitzi Darnell and Mrs. G. Coles, sister of the bride-elect. Gifts were presented in a box appropriately decorated with bridal scenes.

Among those invited were Mesdames D. Knight, D. Chornoby, S. Rhodes and Misses Gaylene Magrath, Marion Stevenson, Pat Slavin, Dorothy Newman, Dinah Kerr, Mary Stevenson and Terry Tremblay.

OF PERSONAL INTEREST

Mr. and Mrs. James Addison with their daughters, Irene and June, have motored through the United States from Toronto, Ont., to Glen Lake, where they will make their home. At present they are living with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Addison and Mr. W. Lundie. Another son, Frank, also lives in this city.

Out-of-town guests attending the ceremony Thursday evening which united Miss Lorraine Mitchell and Mr. Winston Garcin, were Mrs. Charles Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. George Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. V. Britt, Mr. and Mrs. W. Pennycook, Mr. T. Spouse, Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. J. Bradwell and Mrs. A. Aho, Nanaimo.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Fraser, with Jan and Judy, have returned to their home at Luxton following a visit with friends in Vancouver.

There's a brand new package of angel food cake mix on the market that makes the equivalent of a 12-egg white cake. All you add is water and flavoring. This is a delicious cake to serve with whipped cream and toasted slivered almonds.

ISLAND DIGEST

PORT ALBERNI, Sept. 5 — Ratepayers turned down a by-law authorizing sale of three city-owned lots at Fourth and Argyle as a site for a proposed federal building.

Canadian Legion branch here had opposed the sale and campaigned steadily to have the property used as a war memorial park.

The vote was 243 in favor to 192 against, but a three-fifths majority was required to pass the by-law.

A Tug at Your Heart

I sat by this man, firm was his speech, as we loafed in the sun, on this log at the beach. "That's my boat out there," he pointed his hand, I dug with my toe, a small hole in the sand. "I KNOW," I replied, as I wiggled my toes, "I saw you last nite, bring in those Cohoes."

"Boy," he enthused, "that sure was a fight, wish YOU'D been there, it sure was a sight." "I'll BET it was," his grin was wide, he knew all about the wind & tide. "It was still last nite when I caught those fish, that 20 pounder, he was just my dish. He hit the spoon & away he ran. I could F-E-E-L his tug . . . he was off for Japan. I played him awhile, then hauled him in. I felt somehow, I was sure gonna win. I don't have a net," he said with a laugh, "neither do I ever carry a gaff." "YOU DON'T," I replied (he seemed still aloft), "then HOW do you get the fish in the boat?" "Well," he smiled, "I raise my rod high, then my other hand to the line I apply. I slide down this hand, know every inch of the line, then under the water I follow the twine. Again that fish tugged, but his time was short, it's the F-E-E-L for me that's most of the sport. I grabbed for his gills, & flipped him aboard, without a gaff they never get gored." "Gosh," I replied, "I couldn't do that, be kinda afraid, specially one so fat." We have some suites fat & plump, so come on down & visit this dump. Don't get fouled in a bog. "I could hear others talking," he went on to say, "so S-T-I-L-L it was, out there on the bay. You'd think," he said, "he'd give it more play," when I hauled it in, then threw it away. I could hear their laughter, they were on the seashore, when I pitched the fish over the other side. And it flopped in the water, & away it swam, I'd fumbled the thing, & I guess I sed damn. "Oh," I sed, "that was a shame, & I guess those others have done the same. But they weren't very sporting to laugh at your plight," he looked straight ahead & I saw his true sight. "Oh . . . they didn't know, so I didn't mind, you see, it's hard to judge distance, I am totally blind."

Carlo Sforza Served Peace for 50 Years

ROME, Sept. 5 (CP) — Count Carlo Sforza, a noble by birth and an untitled peace-making high diplomat by choice, died in a Roman clinic Thursday. He would have been 79 years old September 25.

Sforza served Italy in diplomacy for a half century and twice was foreign minister. When the monarchy was replaced by the republican government in 1946 he wanted to be known not as count but simply as mister.

He figured in making peace for Italy twice: In the Allied victory over the central powers of the German kaiser in the First World War and in defeat after the Mussolini debacle in the Second World War.

Then he lived to see Italy resurgent as a staunch ally of the west once more—largely through his efforts as foreign minister. He took the job the second time February 2, 1947, and had to give up in poor health four years and five months later.

At the time of his death, Sforza still held membership in the Italian cabinet as minister without portfolio in charge of European union affairs. He was also a senator.

The funeral will be Saturday. Between his two post-war periods of influence, Sforza, a convinced liberal and anti-Fascist, spent 17 years in voluntary exile to protest the seizure of power by Benito Mussolini.

Sforza was born to position, privilege and noble title on the family estate in the Tuscan town of Montignoso di Lumigiana.

The survey shows Eisenhower is being supported by 75.16 per cent of the daily newspapers answering the questionnaire. These represent 81.25 per cent of total daily circulation among those answering.

Oak Bay Turns Down Bowker Creek Request

Oak Bay Council has rejected a suggestion from the Greater Victoria School Board that it close in the section of Bowker Creek running through grounds of Oak Bay High School.

It was the school board's idea to have the creek covered and a football field built over the top. Council turned the proposal down, believing it would be too costly.

One estimate of cost said the project would require $25,000.

17,500 in Philadelphia Cheer Ike As He Continues Peace 'Crusade'

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5 (AP) — Thundering ovations echoed behind Dwight D. Eisenhower today as the Republican presidential candidate carried his "crusade" for world peace into the Midwest.

And Governor Adlai Stevenson was to fly to Denver to hit back at the Republican theme that it is time for a change.

Fresh from a two-day air tour of the south, Eisenhower won new plaudits Thursday night from a wildly cheering crowd of 17,500 in Philadelphia's Convention Hall when he said the United States can lead the world to peace and that "it is a cause for every American."

"Well, then, let's get going," he said. "Don't wait for tomorrow. Let's get going tonight."

Peace, Eisenhower said, can be achieved only by throwing the "wasters, the bunglers and the incompetents" out of office in Washington.

Charging the administration "has bungled us perilously close to world war three," he said,

"We will dedicate ourselves to a program for peace aimed to prevent future Koreans and the honorable end of this Korean war."

The speech marked the formal launching of Eisenhower's campaign.

Stevenson's Denver speech tonight will be a departure from the pattern he has been following—enunciating his own principles with only occasional digs at the opposition.

In a nine-day air tour of nine western states, the Democratic nominee intends to carry the fight to the Republicans. The Denver address will be aimed at the Republican battle cry: "It's time for a change."

In another political development today, Connecticut Republicans pick their candidate for the short-term Senate seat left vacant by the death of Senator Brien McMahon, a Democrat. Prescott Bush, a New York investment banker, is the likely choice over former Congresswoman Clare Booth Luce.

Canada Won't Stop Japanese Goods Imports—St. Laurent

Following is the complete text of the speech prepared for delivery by Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent to a meeting sponsored by the Men's and Women's Canadian Clubs in the Royal Theatre this afternoon.

I would like first of all, to offer my congratulations to the members of the Victoria Women's Canadian Club who are present today. This year the Association of Canadian Clubs is celebrating its Diamond Jubilee. Any organization that has worked as yours has, "to foster throughout Canada an interest in public affairs and to cultivate therein an attachment to Canadian institutions" as the purposes of your association proclaim, deserve the warmest congratulations from all Canadians. The Canadian Clubs have played a small part in stimulating the development of that sense of Canadianism of which we are all so proudly conscious today.

I have had the pleasure on many occasions of speaking to members of Canadian Clubs but it is a pleasure that has not diminished with repetition for it is a privilege for any speaker and especially one engaged in political affairs to have the opportunity of addressing a group of men or women who are so concerned with all national or international issues which affect the welfare of Canada.

You were kind enough to let me choose my own topic for today and I have, therefore, selected one which I hope will be of interest to all Canadians and which may be of special interest to the people who live in British Columbia.

I wish to say something concerning Canada's relations with Asia.

Most Canadians realize that Canada is a Pacific as well as an Atlantic power and that if our nation is to achieve its maximum development and to maintain a maximum of security, particular attention must be given to our relations with the countries of the vast Asiatic continent which lie on the far side of the Pacific.

As with our relations with the rest of the world, Canada's activities in Asia are based on the twin principle of preservation of peace and stimulation of international trade. We Canadians like other peace-loving peoples believe that by serving the cause of peace and by working for greater interchange of commodities between nations, we are working in the interests of all men and women everywhere.

From our history books, indeed from the very first lessons in them, we Canadians have learned that Asia has had a considerable influence on the development of our country. We have read that the first contacts made by Europeans on this continent were the result of a search for a shorter route to the riches of the Orient. And our studies in history show that even after the first settlements were precariously established this quest for a westerly route to the Far East continued and contributed in no small degree to the opening up of this continent.

Even when the true size of North America became realized and hope for finding an Oriental trade route by way of North America was abandoned, some of the explorers and fur traders sent out by their companies to the west and north to discover new sources of fur remained aware of the prospects offered by trade with the Far East. For example,

Alexander Mackenzie, who almost 160 years ago was the first white man to cross the continent north of Mexico, formulated the plan of associating in one vast enterprise the fur trade of Canada and the fishing industry of Britain with the markets of China. While Mackenzie's dream of extensive Canadian trade with the Orient had to wait another 100 years to be fulfilled it presaged a development which is of great importance to Canadians today.

That is enough of our excursion into history. It shows that trade has influenced our relationship with the Far East far back in Canada's history. Now I would like to speak a few minutes on the other principle that I mentioned which is basic to our foreign policy, that of peace. It may seem paradoxical that I will be speaking about Korea where war is currently being waged but all but a few deluded Canadians realize that our participation in the Korean conflict is in the interests of permanent peace.

Canadian forces are in Korea to resist aggression in accordance with the principles of the Charter of the United Nations. Our response to the Security Council resolution of June 27, 1950, was to supply the United Nations force with a brigade group, three destroyers, and the services of an R.C.A.F. transport squadron. While we acknowledge with gratitude the major role that the United States is playing in Korea we can at the same time take pride in both the size and the quality of our own contribution. Proportionately it equals that of any member force of the United Nations now engaged in Korea other than the United States, and it is the third largest in actual size.

Our soldiers, sailors and airmen have remained true to the fine traditions established by their forefathers before them in the defense of freedom. And while it is sometimes dangerous to discuss personalities, may I be permitted here in what he would call his own home town to pay special tribute to the first commander of our Korean brigade.
